Dry Forces Plan Vigorous Battle To Prevent Repeal

CONCENTRATE EFFORTS ON "OLD SOUTH"

Alabama And Arkansas To Vote On Repeal In July, Others In November

DRY FORCES AROUSED

House To House Canvass Is Being Made In Alabama As Churches Give Aid.

ALABAMA, June 15.—(UP)—Prohibitionists rallied their forces in the traditionally dry Southland today for a vigorous stand against repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

A "council of war," attended by prohibition leaders from virtually every southern state and presided over by Methodist Bishop James M. Cannon, and Anti-Saloon League Superintendent T. Scott McBride, met last week in Birmingham.

McBride publicly conceded that unless the south holds fast, the eighteenth amendment is doomed. "Intensive efforts will be made," he said, "to hold Alabama and Arkansas, first of southern states to face the test."

Alabama and Arkansas are to elect instructed delegates to repeal conventions on July 18 and Tennessee will do the same two days later. South Carolina will vote Nov. 7 and North Carolina Nov. 10 on repeal. No date has been set in other southern states.

Not since the days when Carrie Nation led a militant fight to drive the saloons out of Kansas, have the dry forces been aroused to such a staunch fight as impends in Dixie.

Bishop Cannon, addressing the "council of war" declared that "if the south stands firm on the eighteenth amendment, repeal will fail."

Hold "Old South" Prohibitionists believe that if they can hold the 10 states of the "old south" they can win the three others necessary to block repeal elsewhere. Thirty-six states must ratify repeal to make it effective.

The 10 states about which the battle lines are being drawn are Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, North Carolina.

LAMSON'S MURDER HEARING STARTED

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 15.—(UP)—Exhibiting none of the extreme agitation that marked his appearance at his arraignment, David Lamson, Stanford University press official, today began the ordeal of defending himself against charges that he murdered his wife, Allene.

He strode confidently through crowded corridors, gazing straight ahead as he entered the tiny courtroom for his preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Grandin H. Miller. He sat at the defense table, beside his attorneys Edwin M. Rea and Arthur Free.

Little time was lost in preliminaries. Prosecutor Allan P. Lind, who called Dr. Milton Saler, autopsy surgeon, as the first witness.

TROTSKY URGES U. S.-RUSSIAN COLLABORATION

Declares Would Have Tremendous Effect Of Stabilization Of World

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press) PRINKIPO ISLAND, Turkey, June 15.—(UP)—Collaboration between the United States and Soviet Russia would have a tremendous effect on the political and economic stability of the world, Leon Trotsky, exiled Soviet leader, said today in one of his rare interviews.

Such collaboration, he told the United Press, would have far reaching effects in curbing the military aspirations of Japan and Germany, thus materially aiding world peace.

The world economic conference, he said, needs definite action, not empty formulae, for success, and one of the necessary actions should be adjustment of Soviet-American relations.

"You have asked my opinion of the economic conference," Trotsky began. "I have not the slightest illusion about its results. If the innumerable conferences of recent years teach anything, it is that real contradictions cannot be eliminated by the general formulae which inevitably make the essence of all such conferences. Actions are necessary."

Important Step "One of these necessary actions should be the settlement of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. Insofar as your new administration launches out on this path, it will take an extremely important step from the standpoint of international politics as well as from the standpoint of economics."

The four-power pact settles nothing. The real plan of Hitler is to find a point of support in the purchase of the stock.

THORNTON COMES TO AID OF MITCHELL

NEW YORK, June 15.—(UP)—William D. Thornton, president of the Greens Cananea Copper company, came to the defense of Charles E. Mitchell today, as Mitchell's trial for alleged income tax dodging neared its close. Thornton, who purchased 8500 shares of Anaconda stock from Mitchell in 1930, in a transaction that enabled the former National City bank chief to show a "loss," declared he had no agreement with Mitchell for the repurchase of the stock. The records showed that Mitchell bought the 8500 shares back three months after the original sale at approximately the same price.

Chamberlain May Be Head Of Mission

Being Considered Chief Of Debt Delegation On Its Washington Visit

LONDON, June 15.—(UP)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer and in the past a bitter opponent of war debt payments to the United States, is being considered as the head of a debt revision mission to be sent to Washington soon, the United Press learned today.

The treasury confirmed reports that the $10,000,000 silver payment on the war debt annuity due today would be shipped to New York shortly. The treasury is negotiating for a ship and expected to complete transport arrangements today.

Chamberlain's appointment depends on whether he will be acceptable to the United States government. If Washington prefers the British delegation to be led by a treasury expert, the choice probably will be Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, economic advisor to the government.

The government felt it was most probable that the debt mission headed by Chamberlain and including Leith-Ross would arrive in Washington in August after Ambassador Ronald Lindsay had made further preparations for last stage negotiations. The United Press was told semi-officially.

Officials expected the final settlement to be initiated by the end of the year and immediately submitted to congress and parliament for ratification.

Britain will do its utmost to keep the total of the new agreement within the amount paid by Germany under the drastically reduced reparation schedule, thus avoiding the necessity of reopening the Lausanne agreement, it was said.

BUILDING PROGRAM FOR NAVY PLANNED

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—A $238,000,000 naval building program, involving construction of 32 new warships within the next three years, was announced today by Secretary of Navy Swanson.

The construction program to be carried out under public works provisions of the new industrial recovery act, will be pushed "with all the vigor we have," Swanson said.

The program involves construction of four light cruisers of 10,000 tons with six inch guns, 20 destroyers, two aircraft carriers of 20,000 tons each, four submarines of 1500 and 1600 tons and two gunboats for operation in Chinese ports.

This program is to put people to work," Swanson said, explaining that 85 per cent of the total expenditure on a warship automatically goes to labor.

MACON LANDS AFTER 48-HOUR JOURNEY

AKRON, June 15.—(UP)—High navy officials aboard the dirigible U. S. S. Macon on her 48-hour endurance test cruise laughed today at reports the ship experienced any sort of trouble during the flight, which ended successfully here last night.

Commander S. M. Kraus and Lieut. W. E. Zimmerman, members of the navy board of inspection and survey, expressed themselves as "highly enthusiastic" over the performance of the huge ship during the long cruise, and "highly amused" over published reports that rudder trouble had been encountered.

The Macon was in the air 43 hours and 59 minutes on the flight, the fourth of the trial cruises which must be made before the ship can be accepted officially by the navy.

ROOSEVELT COMPROMISE ON VETERANS ECONOMY IS ACCEPTED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—The house voted today to sustain President Roosevelt's compromise veterans' economy program.

By roll call vote, the chamber refused to accept the liberalizing Steiwer-Cutting senate amendment which would have eliminated approximately $130,000,000 in savings previously ordered by the White House.

The vote was 208 to 177. The party division on the veterans' vote showed that 200 Democrats and eight Republicans upheld the President's position. Seventy-nine Democrats bolted the administration leadership to vote for the more liberal Steiwer-Cutting proposal and were joined by 93 Republicans and all five Farmer-Laborites.

RAILROADS IN MATTER AGAIN

Reduction of 12 1/2 Per Cent Announced; Workers To Fight Proposal

CHICAGO, June 16.—(UP)—Railroads of the nation served formal notice on all classes of their union employees today of a further 12 1/2 per cent reduction in wages. The reduction would be effective next October.

A 10 per cent voluntary pay reduction has been operative for a year and a half.

Approximately 1,000,000 railroad workers, their families and their mode of living would be affected by any change in the wage scale. Consequently a bitter fight was forecast.

Union executives declared unalterable opposition to the proposed reduction.

It appeared likely the conflict between the giants of transportation on the one hand and the giants of labor on the other eventually would be submitted to arbitration under the railway labor act before peace is restored in the troubled railroad household.

"The railroads today served notice on classes of their employees of an intention to reduce the basic rates of pay," said a statement issued by managers of all the railroads. "The managers' committee states that their proposition would bring rates of their workers more nearly in line with living costs and the rates paid in other industries."

"Unlike other industries, the railroads have not reduced the basic wage rate from the peaks of prosperous years, such basic rates being...

GRADUATION EXERCISES IN SANTA ANA CLOSE FRIDAY

THREE GRADUATION exercises, one this afternoon, another tonight and the third tomorrow night will end the scholastic year in Santa Ana. This afternoon at 4:30 graduates from the junior college will receive their certificates at an elaborate program on the high school campus. At 7:30 p.m. 180 students of the Frances Willard junior high school will be graduated in the auditorium of Willard school.

The largest class of graduates in the history of the Santa Ana high school will be graduated tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in a ceremony to be held on the high school campus. The high school graduation class will number 270 students.

At the high school graduation the principal speaker will be Dr. Frederick T. Blanchard, member of the faculty of the University of California at Los Angeles. Dr. Blanchard formerly was professor of English at Rice institute. His address tonight will be on the subject "Perspectives."

The musical program will be presented by the high school orchestra, the girls' choir and combined glee clubs of high school. Eight students, in addition to receiving their diplomas, will receive life memberships in the school Honor Society. To win this honor a student must be a member of the society for three-quarters of the time spent in high school. Membership is based purely upon scholastic attainments.

This year's life members in the Honor society are: Mary Jane Baker, Wayne Baker, Dick Gilliland, Walter Donald Kring Jr., Claude M. Owens, Robert Schwarm, Romert Tannenbaum and Elizabeth Ann Woods. All members of the Honor society also receive citizenship ratings averaging 95 or more.

England And Italy Only Ones Paying

United States To Receive About 15 Millions Of 143 Payable Today

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—Settlement day for the war debtors today found the United States receiving probably less than $15,000,000 from 13 nations which were due to pay $143,605,294.

Great Britain was paying the most, tendering $10,000,000 on its $75,950,000 installment on the promise of President Roosevelt that he soon would give it a hearing on its pleas for debt revision. Whether any revision actually will be granted will be up to congress to decide later.

Italy and two or three smaller countries were expected to follow Britain's example and make partial payments before the treasury closes its books for the day.

En route from Paris was a note understood to convey France's decision to default on its $40,738,568 installment, just as it did on last December's payment. Half a dozen other nations appeared likely to join France in defaulting.

The debt payments were comparatively minor in a big day for the treasury. Second income tax payments were due and were expected to bring in around $100,000,000. In addition, nearly $1,000,000,000 of new securities, sold last week, were to be issued.

Out of the proceeds the treasury will retire $274,000,000 of obligations and pay $104,000,000 in interest due today on the public debt.

The war debt payments due at this time and the indicated action by the respective debtors were:

Great Britain—Owed $75,950,000; paying $10,000,000 in silver.

France—Owed $40,738,568; expected to default.

Belgium—Owed $6,325,000; expected to default.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT'S HOME IS DAMAGED

NORTH HAMPTON, N. H., June 15.—(UP)—Damage of $5000 was estimated today as a result of a fire on the top floor of the summer home of James Roosevelt, son of the president, in the Little Bear's Head section here.

Sara Delano Roosevelt, 14-month-old granddaughter of the president, was outside the house in her carriage when the fire was discovered last yesterday.

The Roosevelts had just opened the house for the summer. James Roosevelt, who is the "Home Owners' Loan Corporation," was in a Massachusetts state police car when he was informed of the fire.

26 GOVERNORS MAY PAY VISIT TO SANTA ANA

Executives Invited To Attend Fiesta Del Oro On Saturday, July 29

SANTA ANA MAY be honored by the presence of 26 governors of various states in the United States on Saturday, July 29, at the Fiesta del Oro program in Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, it was learned today.

The governors will be in Los Angeles for several days at the same time that the Fiesta is to be presented here, as guests of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, will attempt to assure appearance of the governors here when he contacts officials of the Los Angeles chamber tomorrow.

Mayor Paul Witmer, while in Sacramento recently, invited Governor Rolph to attend the Fiesta and to bring the governors with him to Santa Ana.

If the visit here is arranged, a special program in their honor will be presented at the Bowl, according to John Wilcox, of the fiesta association. Special boxes will be arranged for the officials and prominent moving picture stars will be invited to attend the Fiesta at the same time, one of them to act as master of ceremonies.

At a meeting of representative bankers, merchants, civic organizations and merchants groups held in the chamber of commerce this morning, complete approval was given to the plans for the Fiesta, which will depict the days of 1849 in California. Financial and moral support was promised and it was the expression of those present that the event will prove so successful that it will become an annual county affair.

NOTED ARTIST AND WIFE LIVING APART

HOLLYWOOD, June 15.—(UP)—Henry Clive, well known artist and his wife, the former Helen Cunningham, musical comedy player, have separated—on the same estate.

The Clives, it was learned, have disagreed for years on two questions: A place to live and what persons to entertain.

So Clive has had a studio built in a remote corner of their North Hollywood estate, while Mrs. Clive continues to occupy the more urban home facing the street.

"It's much simpler that way, and much cheaper than paying two rents," Mrs. Clive said. "Henry can entertain his friends at his place, I mine at the house."

Mrs. Clive denied there was any plans for divorce.

U. S., FRANCE AND ENGLAND IN ACCORD

Other Nations Attending Conference Will Be Invited To Accept Truce

TEMPORARY TREATY

Pact Is Agreed Upon For Duration Of Meet And Announcement Ordered

LONDON, June 15.—(UP)—Georges Bonnet French finance minister, said tonight that France, England and the United States had agreed on stabilization of the dollar, pound and franc for the duration of the World Economic conference.

All nations attending the conference probably will be invited to adhere to the monetary truce, he said.

Formal announcement of the agreement was expected shortly, according to French sources. It may not definitely fix the date, but the French understood efforts would be made to maintain the present ratios.

James M. Cox of Ohio was elected by the bureau of the World Economic conference as chairman of its vitally important monetary commission.

France agreed to Cox's election after some hesitation because of the United States' inflation policy, and accepted the place of rapporteur or secretary which will be occupied by Georges Bonnet French finance minister.

This position in such conferences is an influential one and will serve as a partial balance in gold-standard France's eyes.

Hendrikus Colijn, prime minister of Holland, was elected to the chairmanship of the economic committee, which will deal with chief topics at the conference. Holland like France is a gold standard nation.

Capt. Wright commanded Co. D, 15th Illinois infantry, during the Civil war. He was elected commander-in-chief at the Springfield encampment last September.

S. A. Firestone Employees Get Salary Boost

A boost of 10 per cent in the pay of all Firestone company employees in the United States which was announced yesterday, will result in the increase in pay of nine employees of the Firestone company station, Main and First street, it was announced today by W. D. Johnson manager.

The increase in pay of the Santa Ana employees of the company will mean $180 a week more for the employees which will be spent in Santa Ana.

At the same time that the increase was announced, Johnson pointed to a definite increase in business to justify the raise in pay. He declared that business in the Santa Ana station is 60 per cent ahead of last year at this time.

FOG OVER NOME

NOME, Alaska, June 15.—(UP)—Possibility that James Matern would not be able to land here if he conquers the hazardous Kharbarovsk-Nome leg of his world flight was seen when a light fog covered the landing field at Solomon, 12 miles east of here, is obscured, it was believed he may attempt to bring his plane down at some temporary landing field near-by.

Overcast skies and low visibility made flying conditions poor overnight. The weather was less in the morning, however, than on Tuesday, when freezing temperatures and fog forced him to return to Siberia.

TROTZKY URGES U. S.-RUSSIAN COLLABORATION

Italy and England for war against the Soviet Union. Whoever does not see it is blind.

"Establishment of normal relations between Washington and Moscow would deliver a much more decisive blow at Hitler's bellicose plans than all the European conferences put together."

"No less important significance may be attached to collaboration between the United States and the Soviet Union with respect to the far East. The present conduct of Japan in no wise expresses its strength. On the contrary, the adventurist measures of Tokyo are strongly reminiscent of the conduct of Tsarist bureaucracy in the first years of the present century."

Risky Operations
"But it is precisely these risky operations of irresponsible military Camarilla that may inexorably engender tremendous world convulsions."

"Liaison between Washington and Moscow would not be without its effects on Tokyo and with a corresponding policy it might arrest in time the automatic development of Japanese military adventurism."

"From an economic standpoint, establishment of normal relations between the Soviets and America would yield positive results. The extensive economic plan of the Soviet Union cannot in the coming period base itself upon fascist Germany, with which Russia's relationships will inevitably become extremely unstable."

"All the greater significance is thus acquired by economic collaboration of the two republics, European-Asiatic and American, whose combined population runs to nearly 300,000,000."

"Collaboration could have a planned character regulated from above and reckoned on a basis of a number of years to come."

"The presence in Moscow of a United States representative in Moscow would give Washington the possibility of convincing itself that despite the acute transitional difficulties of trade, the Soviet union is perhaps the surest investment for capital."

"I would be very happy if you would communicate these simple observations to the American public."

WILLIAM GRAHAM CALLED BY DEATH

William E. Graham, 43, veteran of the World War and member of Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V., and the Santa Ana American Legion post, died today at his home, 124 Franklin street.

Graham had lived in Santa Ana for 10 years and was employed at one time by The Register in circulation work. He had been ill since contracting tropical fever in the Philippine Islands.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cora Graham; three children, Alice May, John and Eddie Graham; two sisters, Mrs. Nora Spradler, Anaheim, and Mrs. S. E. Gordon, Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the chapel of the Smith and Tutthill Funeral home, Sixth and Broadway.

Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery. Graveyard services will be in charge of the American Legion.

VILLA PARK MAN CALLED BY DEATH

Fred Becher Swan, 66, station agent for the Southern Pacific at Villa Park for the past 13 years, passed away yesterday. Funeral services will be held from the C. W. Coffey Funeral home in Orange Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with members of the Orange lodge of Elks in charge. Mr. Swan is survived by his wife, Zadie.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 15.

(To the Editor of The Register:) President has been breaking his neck to get Congress "off the Potomac" before Thursday (the day the debts were due.) He was afraid to have 'em there when the bad news arrived. He was afraid they would commit suicide.

See where some American heifers gave as their reasons for marrying one of this mess of Midwestern that he was "smart, cute, amusing, interesting, and hangs around all the time." Sounds almost like the recommendation of a good setter pup.

Everyone at London says "something must be done," and it looks like it will be us.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT MAY LOSE PLANES

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)

—Unless the navy department increases the efficiency of its air corps before next January, a joint congressional committee has warned, congress may take the corps from the navy department.

In a supplemental report on investigations of the Akron dirigible disaster, the committee charged the navy department's inquiry into the fatal crash was not thorough enough.

The congressional investigators said this was evidenced by the fact that the Akron carried no life preservers while the navy inquiry said the ship was "fully and properly manned and equipped in material readiness for flight."

MURDER SUSPECT IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—(UP)

—Police widened their search today for Benny Gonzales, estranged husband of Mrs. Maria Gonzales, 24, found slain in her bed yesterday.

Five-year-old Carmen Gonzales, who was knocked unconscious as she slept beside her mother, assertedly gave police information which caused them to seek Gonzales as the alleged slayer.

Carmen regained consciousness late yesterday following a delicate operation which it was hoped would save her life. Police refused to divulge the information she gave them.

Mike Bondello, Ontario citrus grower, who was taken into custody for questioning yesterday, proved an iron-clad alibi and was released, police announced.

KIDNAPING THREATS RECEIVED BY DODGE

NEW YORK, June 15.—(UP)

—Honore E. Dodge, wealthy Detroit manufacturer, returning with his family today on the liner Europa, revealed that his two young children had been threatened with kidnapping.

He said his home in Detroit had been guarded by 18 private detectives.

Dodge would not allow photographs of the children, David E. three, and Diana, one. The party did not leave the ship at its Brooklyn pier until the pier virtually had been cleared. Several men, apparently private detectives accompanied the Dodges on shore.

URGES CAUTION IN MARKING OF JUNE BALLOTS

The first gun in an education campaign to keep alcoholic liquors out of Santa Ana was fired last night when Horace C. Head, well known attorney, spoke over KRIG.

The speaker pointed out that headings on the ballot to be voted on at the June 27 election were misleading. Undoubtedly, he said, many careless voters will put their stamp in the circle under the heading "For Ratification", believing they are voting in favor of the eighteenth amendment, when they should mark the section "Against Ratification" to retain the amendment.

He outlined the progress of the nation under prohibition, pointing out that consumption of intoxicating liquors has been small compared to what it was under licensed and legalized sale of alcoholic beverages and small compared with what it has been since the nullification program was instituted.

"The breweries and liquor interests," he said, "are engaged in a systematic campaign throughout the United States and particularly at the present time in California, to bring about repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

"It is my firm conviction that repeal would mean a backward step in the progress of humanity. It is on historical fact that drunkenness and intemperance increase directly as the ease and cheapness of acquiring alcoholic liquor increases; that the use of alcoholic liquor as a curse to the human race cannot be denied truthfully."

Attorney Head urged voters to go to the polls on June 27 and to vote "no" on county proposition 11, which says: "Shall the county of Orange authorize license and regulate the sale, transportation and possession, outside of incorporated territory, such alcoholic beverages as may be now or hereafter authorized and legalized by the Congress of the United States?"

"For more than 30 years," he asserted, "this thing has not been tolerated in Orange county. We should never want to permit intoxicating liquors to be sold at roadside dance halls, cafes and hot dog stands. Public safety and public morals will be endangered."

The speaker pointed out that at the same election on June 27 there is to be a special vote taken in the city of Santa Ana on the adoption or rejection of an initiative proposition proposing, "or pretending to amend an ordinance of the city so as not to prevent the sale of beverages containing not to exceed 2.2 per cent of alcohol."

"In my opinion," he said, "the initiative proposition is incomplete and meaningless and its adoption would leave the ordinance it is proposed to amend in a conflicting, meaningless, condition, and in my opinion, should not have been voted upon at all. However, since our city council has seen fit to submit the matter to ballot, it is extremely important that every friend of law, order and decency, and particularly every friend of temperance and believer in the prohibition of the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage, should go to the polls and vote against the adoption of that so-called initiative measure."

"Therefore, I am urging all voters to go to the polls on June 27 and vote against repeal of the

MURPHY TAKES UP PHILIPPINES WORK

MANILA, P. I., June 15.—(UP)

Frank Murphy, former Detroit mayor, today took a cautious stand on the troublesome question of Philippine independence in his inaugural address as Governor-General of the Philippines.

"I believe the people should be permitted to express their independent judgment after a full, fair and unprejudiced discussion and consideration of the issues involved," he said in discussing independence.

MESA LIONS MEET

COSTA MESA, June 15.—The meeting of the Lions club Tuesday was given over entirely to club business. Leroy Anderson, the newly elected president, presided. Plans for a local delegation to attend the county council meeting at Laguna Beach next Monday evening were perfected. Arrangements to send delegates from the Costa Mesa club to the state meeting at Santa Barbara, which is to be held soon, were discussed. Homer McBride was a guest of the club.

MILK PRICE DROPS AS WAR CONTINUES

FRESNO, Calif., June 15.—(UP)—Pasteurized milk sold for five cents a quart in Fresno stores and at seven cents a quart delivered to homes today, as major dairies sought to combat the inroads of raw milk dealers operating just outside the city limits.

The reductions were the second made by pasteurized milk distributors in a week.

The "milk war" was declared several weeks ago by raw milk distributors, who, forbidden by city ordinance to operate inside the city limits, opened stands just over the city lines and offered milk at five and six cents a quart.

SANTA ANA WOMAN TELLS SECRET OF SNOWY WASH

Millions of women use Rinso—dozens have written us letters like this one from Mrs. F. E. Kingsbury 1112 No. Olive St.

"NOBODY can tell me anything about laundry soap—I've tried them all! And I know there isn't one that can compare with Rinso. It's so economical, even a small amount gives mountains of live, active suds in our hard water. Dirt floats right off by itself when the clothes are soaked in them. And everything comes whiter, brighter than ever! Rinso is easy on the hands, too; it saves them from getting that red, swollen washed-out look. I use it for dishes and all cleaning."

Mrs. F. Everett Kingsbury, 1112 No. Olive St., Santa Ana, Cal.

Clothes last 2 or 3 times longer!

YOU'LL SAVE LOTS OF MONEY

WHEN a soap washes clothes 4 or 5 shades whiter, without scrubbing or boiling—that's something to cheer about.

When that same soap actually doubles the life of clothes—makes them last 2 or 3 times longer—that's something to think about seriously!

Rinso's lively suds soak out dirt. Women say they save $100 and more on clothes—by washing them this "no-scrub" way.

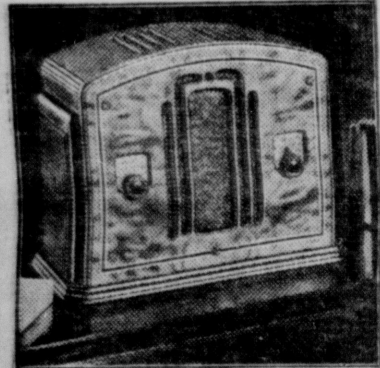

The home-making experts of 316 leading newspapers—the makers of 40 famous washers—recommend Rinso for safety and for whiter washes. It's wonderful for dishes and all cleaning—so easy on the hands. Gives twice as much suds, cup for cup, as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—even in hardest water. Try it.

WHAT! RINSO WASHES WHITER? YES, LOTS WHITER.

DRILLS. MUSIC AND ADDRESSES AT CITY BOWL

Undaunted by a chilly evening, a crowd estimated at 2500 persons turned out last night for the Flag Day program and exercises in Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, sponsored by Santa Ana Lodge No. 794 and Orange Lodge No. 1475, B. P. O. Elks.

Rolling banks of fog which swept across the field at times served but to enhance the brilliance of the uniforms on the field and the colorful banners which surrounded the central platform.

Patriotic music by the Santa Ana Municipal band, directed by D. C. Cianfoni, ushered in the elaborate program with a concert. Following the concert, various patriotic organizations marched on the field and presented their flags and banners.

With throbbing drums and stirring martial airs played on bugles, the famous Santa Ana American Legion Drum and Bugle corps presented an elaborate exhibition of drills. The Legion Auxiliary followed with exhibitions, their blue and white uniforms making the occasion colorful.

Following the invocation, made by the Rev. W. J. Hatter, and a number by the band, Gordon X. Richmond, Orange, presented a program which explained the evolution of the flag of the United States. As he told of each flag which had been used in this country, a member of Santa Ana Antlers' lodge would place the banner before the audience.

Exhibition drills were presented by Calumplit Camp, U. S. W. V. drum corps and Auxiliary, both state champions. The work of the Auxiliary team, members of which were clad in brilliant red and white uniforms, was enthusiastically applauded by the large audience as Joe C. Burke, attorney and prominent Elk, delivered a patriotic address in which he called on citizens of the nation to heed the call of the president in his war on depression and to imbue themselves with a spirit of confidence which will end the depression. He traced the history of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks since its inception in New York in 1868, pointing out that the membership has grown to 700,000. He told of the charity work and other activities of the organization.

JOE HUMPHRIES IS VICTIM OF STROKE

FAIRHAVEN, N. J., June 15.—(UP)—The voice that has belowered names, weights and results at countless ring bouts was reduced to a whisper today as Joe Humphries, dean of America's boxing announcers, lay at Fairhaven Inn, victim of a paralytic stroke.

His right arm and side were paralyzed and doubts were expressed that he could ever again announce "the winnab and new champagne."

Humphries' most recent assignment was at the Savoldi-Browning wrestling match at Yankee stadium, Monday night.

FINAL RITES ARE HELD FOR PEACE OFFICER

Paying final tribute to James Murray, veteran member of the Santa Ana police department, funeral services yesterday at the Smith and Tutthill chapel were attended by a host of friends, peace officers, and members of the Santa Ana police force.

Murray, who was 74 years old and had served on the police force for the past 35 years, died Sunday while visiting friends in Los Angeles. He was on active duty up to the time of his death and was well-known in the eastern industrial district, where he had been stationed for many years.

Every man on the police force, who could be spared from duty attended the service in full uniform. Pallbearers were all men who had worked with him in the department and were Captain J. R. Buckles, Sergeant B. F. Lutz, Sergeant C. L. Neuschwaner and Patrolmen W. A. Swain, William H. Heard and Harry Prichard.

Many floral pieces banked the chapel and especially beautiful were two large ones from the police department and sheriff's office. High tribute was paid to his memory by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, who officiated. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Murray came to Santa Ana in 1888 from New York. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura L. Murray, 501 East Nineteenth street, and one daughter, Mrs. Edna Crane of San Jose.

FARM BUREAU TAKES STAND ON ZONE BILL

Officers and directors of the Orange County farm bureau and the various farm centers met last night at Garden Grove at a dinner meeting and reaffirmed the Farm Bureau stand of two years ago relative to the proposed county zoning ordinance.

The stand of the organization, is that the Farm Bureau does not object to a zoning ordinance for highways and built up areas of the county but feels that there is no justification for the ordinance to cover general farm lands.

At their meeting last night officers of the bureau pointed to the fact that two years ago the board of supervisors agreed with the bureau. Tuesday the supervisors instructed the County Planning Commission to work out a zoning ordinance and present it early in July.

Plans for a county-wide Farm Bureau membership drive to be started tomorrow were discussed following an address by J. J. Denny, manager of the law and utility department of the California Farm Bureau. He told of the financial and membership problems of the state and national Farm Bureaus.

Under the present plan for the county-wide membership drive a series of "clean-up" days, one for each farm center, will be held. Workers from all centers will assist the center sponsoring the "clean-up." The first "clean-up" day will be held tomorrow at Cypress with all workers meeting at the J. J. Denny home for breakfast at 7 o'clock.

ORDER 4 COLUMBUS PLAYERS RELEASED

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—(UP)—The Columbus baseball club of the American association today was confronted with the problem of finding three new infielders and a pitcher by Saturday.

The new players will replace four who were barred from the association at a meeting of club owners in Indianapolis yesterday. First Baseman Art Shires, Second Baseman Charles Wilson, Shortstop Gordon Slade and Pitcher Jim Lindsey, all obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals late in April, were ordered released when the club owners unanimously ruled that Columbus had violated the league's salary agreement.

SAYS CITIZENS ARE MAKERS OF NATION'S FLAG

Termining all citizens of the United States "makers of the flag," District Attorney S. B. Kaufman delivered an address over KREG yesterday during a Flag Day program sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The speaker pointed out that the work a person does and the life he leads is the making of the flag. "It is only what you make it, nothing more," he said. "The flag is your belief in yourself, your dream of what people may become."

"The flag leads a changing life of moods and passions, of heart breaks and tired muscles. Sometimes it is strong with pride when we do an honest work or noble deed. Sometimes it may droop when that purpose is gone from it and men cynically play the coward."

"Sometimes it may be loud, garish and full of that ego that blazes judgment. But always it is all that you hope to be and have the courage to try for. It represents song and fear, struggle and panic and ennobling hope. It is the day's work of the weakest man and the largest dream of the most daring."

"It is the Constitution and the courts, the law and law makers, the soldier and the dreadnaught, the drayman, the street sweeper, the man out of work and the man with work. It is the battle of yesterday and the mistake of tomorrow. It is the clutch of an idea and the reasoned purpose of a resolution. It is what you make it, nothing more."

"It swings before your eyes a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the pictured suggestion of the big things which make this nation. My stars and my stripes are your dream and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them so out of your life."

FIESTA DEL ORO TO BE LAUNCHED WITH STREET EVENT BY BREAKFASTERS

Orange County Breakfast club will take a prominent part in the Fiesta del Oro, Orange county's first historical event, by launching the celebration with a mammoth street breakfast the morning of July 27, it was officially decided at a special meeting of the board of directors this morning following the regular meeting in Ketter's cafe.

SEES RETURN OF SALOON IF WETS WIN OUT

Fear that if America stayed dry the whole world would go dry and the liquor business would be wiped out prompted the present concerted action for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, Santa Ana, last night told an audience that nearly filled the spacious auditorium of the Community Presbyterian church, Laguna Beach. Harvey B. Richards, an officer of the church and chairman of the local dry committee, called the meeting to order and introduced Dr. Warner.

The militant Santa Ana churchman called upon the people of Laguna Beach to reverse their action of May 31, when they voted for beer, and help to show the board of supervisors that the city is not wet. Dr. Warner declared that the favorable vote of May 31 was only six more than had been cast for Proposition No. 1, on the November ballot—repeal of the Wright act—whereas the city had voted against repeal.

"The trouble is that the dries didn't get out and vote," the minister warned his audience. "If they had, there would have been a different story here. The wets mustered every vote in the city. According to the figures, the dries neglected to go to the polls."

"You are battling on two fronts for the election June 27—county and state. In Santa Ana we are battling on three fronts. I want to give you some of the facts in this war to keep liquor out. Prohibition isn't responsible for the racketeering business. It is a fact that there were more places selling liquor without license before prohibition than there are now. There were more open houses where liquor was sold illegally than there are blind pigs today."

Dr. Warner quoted the experience of his own son with a cafe owner, who, as soon as President Roosevelt had declared for beer, had signs made calling attention to the fact that beer would be sold in his place. Beer was legalized and the man sold it. The signs are down now. The man lost money, he said, because some of his good trade had gone away."

The minister called attention to the fact that there has been a necessary increase in the police forces of Los Angeles and Long Beach, because of the legalizing of beer. Referring to the county plebiscite, Dr. Warner declared:

"The board of supervisors, without warrant, put on the ballot for June 27 a proposition that will permit the unincorporated area of the county to be licensed. The wet interests had threatened to get up an initiative petition. The supervisors said they knew the wets could get up such a petition, calling for a special election and by the present method they could determine the sentiment in the unincorporated area. If there was a special election, the vote of the cities would have to be taken into account in their decision on passing a licensing ordinance. They said they were trying to save some expense. But, tell me, if the sentiment of the unincorporated area proves to be dry, what is to prevent the wets from getting up an initiative petition and forcing an extra and expensive election?"

"We can see a return of the saloon if the state goes wet. Last year, when repeal of the Wright act was brought before the people, we lost because there was not enough of education. The people actually didn't know what they were voting for, when they approved of Proposition No. 2. That amendment takes all control of liquor out of the hands of the counties and the cities and places it with the state. Local option is wiped out. The state alone will regulate it. We have been majoring on control in this nation, but in permitting the state to take away the right of local option is going in the opposite direction. State control would make every road house and every wayside lunch room a potential saloon. To put liquor back in full force would be the same as putting every child in the hands of the brewer and saying to him, 'You bring him up; you do as you please with him.'"

The land, located in the northwest part of Anaheim, was purchased by the company from G. W. Bartlett. Part of the consideration involved was in stock.

Anaheim city engineers expect to complete a survey of the land by Monday night and plans for the brewery are expected to be completed soon. Five months from the time the building are started, distribution of beer, to be called "Anaheim Beer," is scheduled to start.

Forty persons will be employed on the erection of the buildings, officials said. They also reported that 40 persons will be employed permanently in the brewery. The capacity of the brewery will be 400 barrels a day or a million and a half cases a year, it was said.

A story of a meeting of the Laguna Beach city council, published Wednesday, stated that Hecker's application had been approved by Jerome, among others. Jerome said that the first he read of it in the paper. He stated that when he had questioned Hecker, the latter stated that he had mentioned him as a character witness in making the application.

ASK $21,778 DAMAGES FROM BREA MOTORIST

Charges that he was intoxicated and, because of his intoxicated condition, responsible for their injuries were contained in a damage suit filed yesterday in superior court against Claire Hurst of Brea.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Viola Moeder, her husband Lloyd Moeder, Mrs. Velma Bickel and her husband Frank Bickel, guests in Hurst's automobile early New Year's morning when it overturned at the foot of Harvard hill in Fullerton. Mrs. Forrester Hurst also is named as a defendant as owner of the car. Damages sought in the action total $21,778.

According to the complaint Hurst invited the Bickels and Moeders to ride with him to Brea. They alleged he was intoxicated and drove his auto at a speed of 40 miles an hour zig-zagging from one side of the highway to the other. It was also alleged that he refused to heed pleas that he reduce the speed of the automobile and allow his guests to leave the machine.

At the foot of Harvard hill in Fullerton the car overturned injuring the occupants. Mrs. Moeder, the most seriously injured of the party received a broken shoulder and other broken bones for which she is asking actual damages of $10,000 and $700 special damages. Her husband, Lloyd Moeder, received serious bruises about the body and is asking for $2500 actual and $25 special damages. He is also suing for $2500 for expenses due to injuries to his wife and loss of her service and society.

Sister of Former President Starts Court Proceedings

Litigation in the Santa Ana branch of the family of the late Warren G. Harding was revealed today through filing of a foreclosure suit by Mrs. Charity M. Remsburg, sister of the late president. The suit names as defendants, Mrs. Frances E. Harding, widow of the late Foster W. Harding, brother of the deceased president, and the First National bank of Santa Ana as administrator of the estate of Foster W. Harding.

Consider Unified Government for San Diego County

SAN DIEGO, June 15.—A plan to unite the entire county into one incorporated municipality, under one government, is being studied by county officials here.

Under the proposal, the government would be administered by a board of supervisors—a system much the same as that existing in the San Francisco area.

It is contended that 25 per cent of the $10,000,000 now paid annually into the treasury of San Diego county would be saved if the proposal is adopted.

Police News

Stolen cars have been reported by Wilbur Lentz, 173 North Glassell street, Orange, from a street in Newport Beach, and Mrs. Nora B. Leonard, 511 South Birch street, from Sixth and Bush streets.

Charles Pevis, Third and Spurgeon streets, reported that a gum vending machine was stolen from his premises Monday night.

LIQUOR CASE REFLECTION IS HABEAS CORPUS UP TOMORROW BEACH SESSION

A new attack on Orange county's dry ordinance and a similar ordinance of the city of Fullerton will be made tomorrow afternoon before Superior Judge James L. Allen in department two, superior court.

The attack will be through a petition for writ of habeas corpus filed yesterday by D. G. Wuttlin, attorney for Mrs. Frances Aguilar, convicted under the Fullerton ordinance for possession and sale of liquor.

Mrs. Aguilar was found guilty under the Fullerton ordinance and fined $175 with the alternative of serving it out in jail at the rate of $2 per day. She has served about 25 days of her sentence.

The petition contends that the Fullerton ordinance is null and void having been repealed by passage of the Wright act and not reinstated through repeal of the state law.

The attack will be based on two points. First that under section 328 of the state political code no act repealed by another act is revived through later repeal of the repealing act and second, that the Peterson act or state "beer bill" approved by the state legislature this year, invalidates all conflicting prohibition ordinances.

Wuttlin has cited a decision handed down last month by the fourth district appellate court in the "Wiley Local Option" case at Visalia upholding section 328 of the political code.

Several months ago in a similar case in which Frank Haegole of Sunset Beach was denied a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Allen, that jurist ruled the county dry ordinance was reinstated through repeal of the Wright act.

Tire Factories In Akron Give 10,000 Jobless Men Work

AKRON, O., June 15.—Some 10,000 unemployed tire builders have been put back to work here since April 1; and for the first time since 1923, the rubber factories are working 24 hours a day, six and even seven days a week, to fill orders.

For the most part the men being hired in are former employees, as being skilled men, who can quickly get back into full swing of production. To date the men laid off in 1932 and most of those in 1931 have been put back to work and the employment offices are now calling those laid off still earlier.

At the Goodyear plant, largest of the rubber companies, where 2,500 men have been taken back, R. S. Wilson, vice president and sales manager, stated that its business had doubled since February. He expressed concern over a shortage of stock.

Annual Dance of Firemen Tonight

LAGUNA BEACH, June 15.—The eighth annual ball of the Laguna Beach Volunteer Fire department will be held this evening at the Cabrillo ballroom, which has been donated for the occasion. "Cally" Holden's orchestra will play and some of the stunts will be broadcast. There will be special prizes for dancing.

Court Notes

Lester B. Shaffer, arrested by Santa Ana police officers for a statutory offense, was brought before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison yesterday to have bail fixed at $1500. Mrs. Ida May Corrick, arrested for the same offense, has been taken to the Orange county hospital for observation.

Three motorists paid fines for traffic violations in city court yesterday. Mrs. D. E. Fehlmann, R. D. 4, Anaheim, and Frank R. Lansdown, 325 Grant street, Santa Ana, paid $5 fines for speeding, and Paul Slavin paid $1 for over-time parking.

REFLECTION IS EXPLAINED AT BEACH SESSION

LAGUNA BEACH, June 15.—A talk on economics by W. B. Taylor, young Santa Ana banker, was the high light of the afternoon session at Laguna Beach yesterday of the thirty-second annual convention of the California State Association of County Mutual Fire Insurance companies.

Taylor went thoroughly into President Roosevelt's proposed financial remedies and explained the meaning of reflection. He declared that deflation is worse than reflection.

Following a talk on "Uniformity of Rates and Forms," by Harold E. Swayne of San Diego, there was a general discussion of the subject. Fred C. Cromer of Los Angeles talked on "Adjustment of Losses."

Last evening the delegates and their families were the guests of the Community club. A vaudeville program was staged under the direction of Charles Gilmore. "Witt" Burnell, a professional, gave a "rube" monologue. "The Fatal Ring," a one-act farce, was produced by the Laguna players, the cast including the Misses Stella and Ida Harris, Chris Valente, John Marziner and Dan Grant. Chris Valente sang a group of songs, Stella Harris gave a reading and Mrs. Vera Newcomb, dramatic soprano, gave a fine program of songs. Dan Grant was the accompanist.

The auxiliary held a luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Laguna. William A. Griffith gave an interesting talk on the history of the Laguna Beach art colony.

Charge Holds Man After Making Bail on U. S. Court

Following his release on a $5000 bond on federal charges George Keller, 46, was kept in the county jail yesterday when he failed to post a $10,000 bond imposed by Judge Kenneth Morrison on grand theft charges preferred by Mrs. Letty Shoemaker, 413 South Main street, Santa Ana.

Herman Zabel, superintendent of the county record and identification bureau, swore out the complaint against Keller. He is

Club Football Games Proposed Here

SIGN DAWSON, BEATTY, MANY OTHER PLAYERS

A complete season of "independent" football games was predicted for Santa Ana today as Attorney Loren W. Smith announced that plans already were well advanced toward the organization of a Santa Ana team. The squad will be officially known as the Spartan Athletic club.

Johnny Ward, Garden Grove high school coach and onetime U. S. C. lineman, has been suddenly ill when she arrived at the courts today to play in the Beckenham tournament.

Her match was postponed. She hoped to be able to play later in the day.

Mrs. Moody Sick, Match Is Cancelled

1000 TRACKMEN ASSEMBLE FOR CHICAGO MEET

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, June 15.—(UP)—One thousand of the nation's greatest athletes will gather in Soldier field tomorrow and Saturday for one of the biggest sports carnivals on the world's fair program.

Half of these athletes will compete in the National Collegiate track and field meet, and the other half will compete in the 28th annual interscholastic track and field meet.

The preliminaries will be held Friday afternoon, with the finals in the interscholastic meet Saturday afternoon and the collegiate meet Saturday night.

Michigan, Louisiana Dangerous

The team championship in the N. C. A. A. meet is likely to be a two-horse race between Southern California, Eastern intercollegiate champion, and Stanford, Michigan, Big Ten champion, and Louisiana State, southern champions, however, may push either of these favorites to the limit in a blanket finish.

Southern California barely pulled through ahead of Stanford in the Eastern intercollegiate meet, but Coach Dean Cromwell expects his team to make a much better showing here. Bill Graber, American record holder at 14 feet, 4-3/4 inches in the pole vault, has been vaulting spectacularly in practice, and his teammates expect him to make his best effort of the year.

Bob Van Osdel, the high jumper, has improved and will give Willis Ward, Michigan Negro, and Walter Marty, Fresno State star who has leaped 6 feet, 8-5/8 inches, plenty of competition.

Ball May Press Metcalfe

Ed Ablowich, the Trojans' quarter-back, is in better condition than he was for the I. C. A. A. meet.

The Trojans' best sprinter, Charles Parsons, has been out of training but Les Ball, another flashy sprinter, is hoping to finish close up behind Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette's big Negro sprinter.

Stanford's chances will be lessened materially because of the absence of Ben Eastman, half-miler, who hasn't been able to round into condition. He will not run in the National Collegiate meet, but hopes to be in shape to represent the Olympic club in the A. A. U. meet here later this month.

Stanford's three stars are Bill Miller, Olympic vault champion; Henry Labonte, great discus thrower; and August Meier, hurdler.

Headed by "Sprouts" Elder, champion short-track rider of the world, the entry list includes such famous stars as Ray Grant, Minky Wain, Jimmie Gibb, Byrd McKinnon, "Lanny" L'Amoreux, George Lannon, Cordy and Jack Milne, "Pitt" Mossman, Bob Keller, Delbert Morrison, "Bo" Lisman, "Slim" Myers, "Red" Murch, Ed Hinkle and "Shorty" Campbell.

Handicaps have been changed recently and some of the boys who formerly started ahead of scratch have been pulled back by Referee Koocher. Last year Elder was the only man starting from scratch but now L'Amoreux, Earl Farrand and Minky Wain are scratch men and must line up alongside Elder in the standing start events. Grant, Lannon, Milne and the others are placed on 20, 30 and 40 yard lines.

SANTA ANA, ORANGE MEET IN 'B' LEAGUE

Tied for first place in the Orange County Night Ball league with three victories apiece, Santa Ana and Orange fight it out for undisputed leadership at Orange tonight.

Al Walters and Struck, the former Orange's manager, will be the opposition's battery.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(INS)—A distant, strangely, lonely figure in the midst of the sparkle and gaiety of a leavetaking, Max Schmeling started, unseeing, at the general agitation just before the Europa put out to sea early today and announced that he was ready to fight anybody, any time, anywhere.

He said he'd be back in September. But I happen to know that if he never comes back at all, he won't greatly surprise his managers, Bill McCarey and Joe (We Was Robbed) Jacob.

They're about convinced that the Baer fight not only was Schmeling's worst but that it is liable to be his last. Even at this comparatively early moment, Mr. McCarey is considering a visit to Europe in the hope of unearthing a few live ones before the panic is definitely on.

Not that Schmeling has indicated that he intends to withdraw forthwith to a life of ease and refinement. On the contrary, he talks of starting all over again to fight his way back to the heavyweight championship. But somehow you sense the fact that his words mean little, even to him.

He had heard Baer's final instructions, which were to come out punching, pay no attention to Schmeling, the referee, the reporters, the crowd, anything; just punch, punch, punch. But the long arm of the law had put the collar on Mr. McCarey as he came with a rush down the aisle and, before he could shake off this unwelcome restraint, it was too late.

Maybe it's too late for everything now. Anyhow, it may be significant that Schmeling once said no prizefighter should marry until he's ready to retire. Two days ago, he announced his forthcoming marriage to Any Ondra of the German cinema.

But as he sailed this morning he was still talking about his next fight in September. I think he almost believes it himself.

Daro Offered Post In N. Y. With Garden

MERCED, June 15.—(UP)—"Carnation Lou" Daro, Los last night was offered tentatively the position as wrestling promoter for Madison Square Garden, New York, by Jack Dempsey, Daro revealed today.

"Jack called me long distance at Yosemite from New York," he said.

Daro said the offer was contingent on negotiations to place Dempsey as head of the Madison Square corporation to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Bill Carey, former president.

SHIKINA, SHOE TO HEAD FIRST S. A. MAT CARD

Ok! Shikina, Japanese exponent of the famed Jiu-jitsu style of wrestling, and Pete Shoe, former University of Illinois shot-putter, will headline Santa Ana's first 1933 mat show at the Municipal Bowl next Wednesday night. They will do two-out-of-three falls.

The complete card was announced today by Promoter Cal Eaton.

Shoe, bald 26-year-old protégé of "Strangler" Lewis, was to have grappled with Vic Christy in the main event but a change in dates for the opening show necessitated the withdrawal of Christy who already had signed to wrestle elsewhere. Although he had a prior contract on the Bowl, Eaton called off his card which had been billed for last night rather than conflict with the Elks' Flag Day exercises at the civic stadium.

Shikina, 230-pound champion of Japan, wrestled in Santa Ana several times last year when Elmer Wilson was promoting at the Delhi club. Shoe, 225, has never shown here.

Other matches arranged by Eaton:

Myron Cox, 215, vs. Nick Elich, 230, two out of three falls.

Steve Strelch, 195, vs. George Maloney, 195, one fall or 30 minutes.

Harry Ekizian, 205, vs. Dr. Mulikan, 195, one fall or 30 minutes.

Other trackmen who have selected their institution of higher learning are Russell Koons, Ohio State; Jim Tawney, George Washington; and Rhodes Finley, Occidental.

Garth Olsen, guard in football, plans to attend the University of Washington. Burt Winslow, one of the college's best swimmers, will take up aviation at the Warren School of Aeronautics.

Henry Thierry, basketball and baseball star; Hideo Higashi, football, basketball and baseball star; and Merrill Bauer, trackman, are undecided, may seek immediate employment.

Stanford University, June 15.—(UP)—Despite injuries which held him off the clinders most of the season, Ben Eastman, star middle distance runner, did not go through the year without an important conquest.

He was the holder today of the Jake Gimbel medal, awarded annually to the senior student "possessing the most excellent mental attitude toward athletics and scholastic work, and whose athletic endeavor has been an inspiration to his colleagues."

Another possible serious accident occurred when Rex May's machine skidded and crashed over a fence without injuring the driver.

BERKELEY, June 15.—(UP)—Martin Leachman, winner of the Berkeley Country club golf championship, followed tradition when she made a hole in one at the ninth hole on the club course yesterday, her mother and father both having aces to their credit.

LABOR TROUBLE ELIMINATED BY PROHIBITION, MANAGER OF FRUIT ASSOCIATION DECLARES

FULLERTON, June 15.—Along with other industries, orange picking had its blue Mondays before prohibition, Harry O. Easton, manager of the Placentia Mutual Orange association packing house, declared today in an interview with a Register representative.

"During the 13 years of prohibition we have had less trouble with men on Monday morning than on any one Monday morning before prohibition," Mr. Easton said. "It was customary for about half of the pickers to be absent from work and for about a quarter to a third of the men absent on Tuesday also. By Wednesday morning they were usually all back except a few who had to be let out and new pickers put to work in their place.

"In those days there was more work than there is now and a man could go on a drunk over the week end, get fired and get another job. But today it is a different story. Work is scarce and the men work harder to keep a job. If a man does not return to work Monday morning he does not need to come back at all unless he has a doctor's certificate."

A lot of far-sighted people are taking advantage of present low prices to buy that world standard of tire value, the Goodyear All-Weather, for every wheel on their cars.

They know that tire prices have dropped so low that the only way they can reasonably move is up.

They know that the prices of raw materials are climbing—they know that the demand for tires has increased so rapidly that Goodyear factories are running night and day.

And in case you don't know it—Goodyear is now building the famous All-Weather Tread Tire—most popular tire in the world—better in mileage, better in safety, better in rugged good looks than it has ever been.

WASHINGTON

HOMES

The new Home Loan Law is as crowded with jokes as Joe Miller's joke book.

It will be of considerable benefit to those who now own 60 per cent of their homes or more. They can borrow the remainder from the government and pay off those who own less than 60 per cent. They will have to wade through technicalities over their heads. Some may be benefitted but the large part will not be helped much.

What it will probably boil down to is that the good mortgages will remain in private hands while the bad ones are palmed off on the government.

The measure was written by General Counsel Russell of the Federal Home Loan Board. He had the assistance of at least one former member of the Board who looked out for Building and Loan interests.

Imperfect as it is, the law is much better than the old one. Under that one $35,000,000 was put out by the government. No one has been found yet who will claim that the individual home owner benefitted a cent.

Some of the building and loan people were pulled out of the bog which everyone agrees was at least something.

INVESTIGATION

The plan of certain Senate stock market investigators to "expose the capitalist system" is working out neatly.

A resolution was adopted by the Senate authorizing an expenditure of $100,000 without the subject ever being mentioned. It may be kept entirely under cover until fall. The resolution gave the Committee the broadest powers ever granted. By authorizing an inquiry through income taxes Wall Street can have no secrets if the Committee wants them.

TONIC

A certain brilliant young government official has been tuning up on bottles for his daily labors.

The other day he was giving a blackboard talk on a large financial scheme to a corps of assistants. He started off gaily with chalk and ferule in one hand and cheese cloth in the other. In fifteen minutes he did more work than those three articles than a juggler could have done. He wiped his hot face with the cheese cloth and then used it on the blackboard. He chased the chalk around the room, tripped over the ferule. His assistants did not dare to laugh for fear of being fired.

His superiors heard the story which went the rounds of insiders. They hinted it would, be well for the young man to train on three point two or seek a cooler climate.

CAESAR

The boys inside will tell you the administration will be lucky to get through a year without investigation troubles.

So much power and money are being handled so hurriedly that it seems impossible to keep everything on the up and up. The present setup is comparable to wartime. Days can be wasted on red tape. Contracts must be let without the slow motion picture action the government usually gives such things.

But it is not so much the money as it is the power which is worrying those near the top. Congress has given the Administration more power than any government of a democracy ever had. It can help or hurt any industry, any competitors in industry or any person in any walk of life.

The utmost caution cannot prevent charges of favoritism being made. They have already been made in connection with the opening of certain banks. The prophets see storm clouds in the offing.

LONDON

Our delegates are not going to be fifteen minutes he did more work than long. It is costing them too much money.

Senator Couzens contributed a laboring man's fortune to become a member of the delegation. The last American boat had sailed when he accepted the President's appointment. Mr. Roosevelt broke the news to him gently, saying: "You will have to pay your own way and that of your secretary. I know you won't mind, but I thought I ought to tell you."

REPEAL

The highest Administration officials will issue a sigh of relief when the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed because it will solve their problem of what to do with Prohibition Administrator Dalrymple.

His latest was an appeal to the House Ways and Means Committee against the Administration program. Wets on the Committee pointed out that his recommendations were at variance with repeal. He told them:

"I am unalterably opposed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment."

NOTES

The reason they may drag this Cuban sugar deal on through the summer is the Philippine legislature is meeting shortly to ratify independence. The authorities may decide to wait until that is over if possible before trying a general quota plan. Prof. Moley has a feud on with certain news writers. He thinks they treated him unfairly.

Before he has been here four years, however, he will cease to care what people write about him. One of Moley's closest friends has threatened to have a detective investigate the private life of one news writer in retaliation. The idea will probably be forgotten. The result of this tit for tat is that Moley has practically dried up as a news source.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

INVESTIGATION

Don't be misled by the apparent situation on the Senate investigation.

The show is about over for the summer. Mr. Pecora's assistants will keep busy during the hot months digging up further dope on the private banks, several commercial banks and the Stock Exchange itself. They will have a raft of stuff to spring this fall if it is wanted.

Whether it is wanted depends entirely on how Wall Street behaves meantime. If the big fellows pitch in and do as they're told they probably won't be seriously bothered again. But if they persist in under cover opposition the whole inner workings of New York finance will be spread before the public and legislation will be in order to strip Wall Street of its power forever.

That's the story the private bankers have brought back from Washington. No one promised them a thing. But they got a distinct impression that they would be permitted to continue to function as long as they didn't try to steal the show again.

One reason for the decision not to press things too far now is because the Administration has not yet figured out an adequate substitute for New York's investment machinery. It will have a role to play in recovery. Therefore they didn't want to hamstring it now.

One of the President's most trusted advisors is a lot less sold on showing the public what makes the wheels go round than he was a few weeks ago. That's another reason for the soft pedal.

The whole thing was characteristic of the Roosevelt method. The Morgan hearings proved to New York that he has the power to do with them as he likes. That being proven, it is now up to New York to decide whether it wants to play with him on his terms or not. Even the hardest-boiled old-timers are beginning to wonder whether it wouldn't be wisest to do so.

You can write it down that the Morgans were more deeply impressed than they care to admit. They are not nearly so sure that Mr. Roosevelt is going to trip himself up as they were a few weeks ago. Inside sentiment is growing in favor of acknowledging him as the boss and reshaping their course accordingly.

GERMANY

The transfer moratorium on all German debts (forecast in this column two months ago) stirred the New York banks to action.

Several of them are taking steps to cancel all their outstanding lines of credit in Germany in order not to get hooked any worse.

The banks have plenty of blocked marks—marks which cannot be exported from Germany—but are up a tree to know what to do with them. It wouldn't be so bad if they could be used to acquire German properties but the Reich has taken steps to prevent that. About all they are good for is to buy passages on German steamship lines and pay tourist expenses in Germany—which doesn't give much of an outlet.

Local bankers figure that Schacht clamped down on everything in order to give himself a trading point at the London Conference. He is now in a position to offer concessions and make them sound like something. You can get two to one that payments on Dawes and Young plan bonds will soon be exempted from the restrictions.

The same authority which gave the original exclusive information last fall advises that notwithstanding forthcoming high-sounding words the principal of German debts owned in the United States will never be paid. Dr. Schacht privately expects to operate either through a new inflation or if circumstances permit even by outright repudiation. Until the time is ripe you will hear much about "our sacred obligations."

With some $1,750,000,000 of these debts held privately in the U. S. serious repercussions may be looked for here especially in the stock market.

The German Reichsbank is now practically stripped of reserves. The situation has been aggravated by the fact that it could get less than half of the foreign exchange which German exporters were required to turn in. The law of self preservation is still stronger than the most drastic decrees.

BEARS

The 60 per cent break in the stock of Chicago & Northwestern R. R.—from 3 3/4 to 3 1/2 in less than an hour—was a manipulated raid if there ever was one. Although the instigators think that they have been pretty smart in covering up their tracks they may not be able to outsmart the sleuths of the much-aroused Stock Exchange Governing Committee.

RESTRICTIONS

New York insiders say that one of Washington's chief problems will be to raise tariffs without calling it that. It will probably be done by a system of quotas and embargos. The problem will become acute if domestic prices keep on rising. Dollar wheat would offset the present tariff and make it possible for Argentine producers to compete with our farmers on the Eastern seaboard on a price basis.

CUBA

This business about constitutional reform in Cuba and the creation of a Vice President is part of Sumner Welles' diplomatic campaign to persuade Machado to quit. Machado will sing lusty songs about sticking to his guns but he will not be officially present much longer.

SIDELIGHTS

Five women partners have been admitted to Stock Exchange firms this year. . . . That makes about 40 in all. . . . Only two or three are active. . . . The bull market has brought a real reemployment wave in Wall Street. . . . Brokerage firms have taken back five thousand employees in the past month. . . . Professional pool operators are busier than one-arm paper-hangers. . . . There are almost as many pools as there are stocks.

122 LATHROP GRADUATES GET CERTIFICATES; ARE WARNED AGAINST FALSE STANDARDS

One hundred and twenty-two members of the graduating class of Julia Lathrop Junior High school, were given certificates of promotion admitting them to the senior high school, at exercises held last night in the auditorium of the Polytechnic high school.

An audience that packed the auditorium greeted the opening number of the program arranged for the occasion, "Marche Militaire," by Schubert, played by the Lathrop school orchestra under direction of Miss Edith Cornell, which was followed by invocation by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Well received by the audience were two selections by the Boys' and Girls' glee clubs, followed by an overture by the orchestra.

Stressing the value of character as the main asset of a successful life, the Rev. Mr. McFarland, in his address, warned his young listeners against false standards. Knowledge alone is not sufficient to insure a successful career, the speaker said, in which connection he referred to a recent statement by the warden of Sing Sing prison to the effect that within the walls of that institution there were men that could teach any subject in any of the recognized universities of the country.

Have you made up your mind to pay your way? How far can you go? Can you stand exposure? How much are you worth? are some of the examination questions of life that the students sooner or later will be called upon to answer, the speaker said. Some people like the hoboes on the freight trains steal a ride through life, while others, in the form of unearned possessions, are riding on a pass. Still others, trying to get by without too much effort, are paying half fare, thus classing themselves with children in the game of life. Those who pay full fare are those who by their own efforts are keeping the world on the move, who, unmindful of their own interests, devote their time and energy to undertakings that spell progress and community betterment.

Commends Music
In presenting the certificates of completed studies to the individual members of the graduating class, Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson took occasion to compliment the music department of the school, centering his remarks on the operetta recently given by the Lathrop institution.

Principal H. G. Nelson presented the class, and the acceptance of the same by the senior high school was voiced by Vice Principal L. R. Crawford.

Virginia Pritchard and Mack Warnke, selected by the faculty as the two outstanding students of the graduating class, were presented with the American Legion awards, the formal delivery being made by Judge J. B. Tucker, commander of the Santa Ana post, and Jules Markel, chairman of the Americanization committee of the organization. The program was brought to a close with a flag salute.

NEBLETT AND DAVIS TO SPEAK FOR DEMOCRATS

Inaugurating a series of educational public meetings, designed to acquaint the public with the accomplishments of the administration of the Jeffersonian club, an organization of young Democrats, today announced the initial meeting to be held at the Willard Junior High school auditorium on Monday, June 19 at 8 p. m. at which time several prominent speakers will be heard.

One of the featured speakers Monday night will be William Neblett, who is Senator William Gibbs McAdoo's senior law partner. Neblett is said to have a comprehensive knowledge of national legislation, and will probably speak on the recently passed control-of-industries bill.

Upon popular request, James L. Davis, deputy district attorney of Orange county, and chairman of the Orange county Democratic club, will present his talk on the "New Deal," which shows fulfillment of President Roosevelt's campaign pledges as embodied in recent legislation.

Colonel John P. Carter recently appointed by President Roosevelt as collector of internal revenue for the Sixth Calif. district, which embraces Santa Ana, in conversation with A. D. Comito, Jeffersonian Club secretary, said that he would make every effort to attend the meeting.

H. H. Cotton, prominent Democratic leader and delegate at large for consideration of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, has been invited.

"This meeting will be one of the most outstanding of our schedule," most everyone interested in National problems is invited to attend. Doors will be opened at 7:30. There will be no admission charge," C. Harold Dale, club chairman, said.

Swimming Class

TO OBSERVE UNUSUAL EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Travis below, are making plans to observe their seventy-first wedding anniversary which will take place this summer on August 11. They were married in Nova Scotia, but they have been residents of Santa Ana for the past 30 years. Travis is an active member of the Santa Ana B. P. O. E. and seldom misses spending several hours a day with old friends at the Elks clubhouse.

SANTA ANA COUPLE WILL CELEBRATE 71ST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY THIS SUMMER

A truly unusual event will take place in Santa Ana this summer when Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Travis, 821 North Ross street will observe the seventy-first anniversary of their wedding date.

The figures do not constitute a typographical error but are actual facts and not only have Mr. and Mrs. Travis been married for as long a time as is generally considered the allotted span of 71, but they lived happily ever after the long-ago wedding day, August 11, 1861.

ans for the celebration of this momentous date are already in press and guest lists are being prepared and other arrangements being made. Interesting to know is the fact that the golden wedding anniversary of the couple was celebrated in the same home as will this latter celebration. Other wedding anniversaries have been only or more formally observed by Mr. and Mrs. Travis moved to Santa Ana about 30 years ago.

Double Wedding
Married a double wedding in Nova Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Travis have been separated only a short sliver, since that time. The bride's groom's cousin, Lemuel Hamilton, were the only happy couple who pledged themselves and who long ago passed. Both brides wore black frocks in the quaint puffed sleeves not in fashion's favor, and their white shoulders gleaming above the neck lines.

Twenty when they were married, both Mr. and Mrs. Travis have now reached the age of 91. Mr. Travis is the oldest Elk in the Santa Ana lodge, if not in the state, and looks to be possibly 65 years of age. Mr. Travis is a dainty little old fellow whose white, blue-veined hands seldom have been idle in her 70th century of life. Rouge has been reddened on her soft cheeks, and she does not like the present faded red and highly polished nail the smiles at the word "modern" and believes that human ure has changed but little in the passing of the years.

The only separation couple have known was in the part of their married life when Travis determined to go to the east of wagon train with seven-foot wheels, along the edge of a deep canyon, when the mules suddenly lost their footing. The night was moonless and in the darkness in the depth of the canyon Travis was obliged, how he does not know, to straighten the two wagons and their cargo and the 16 mules plunging about and trying to extricate themselves from their predicament.

Travis says that he has handled more whiskey than any man he knows, but never drank a drop in his life. The barrels of whiskey shipped on his wagon trains contained 52 gallons each. Each load held from six to seven barrels and were carried from San Francisco to the mining camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis have three children living, W. C. Travis and B. S. Travis, who live in the state of Washington and Mrs. N. E. Mathews of Santa Ana. Their grandson, Harold Mathews, lives with them and, Mrs. Travis, declares is really like another son to them.

It is a long way from the peninsula of Nova Scotia, washed by the stormy waters of the Atlantic, where the Traverses began their married life, to the palm-shaded home on the shores of the Pacific where the happy couple are preparing to observe the anniversary of their marriage this summer, but a brief visit in the Travis home will convince even those most skeptical in regard to married happiness, that the long journey which lays behind them is paved for the Santa Ana nonagenarians only with the happiest of memories.

OIL MEN ELECT GOVERNING GROUP

Oil producers of California have named their field committees and also their governing body, the Central Production committee for the ensuing year. Over 400 secret ballots were cast. The committee concerns itself only with the production and promotion problems of the industry.

For the Huntington Beach section, Neal Anderson was named; for Seal Beach, A. H. Bell, and for Northern Orange county, A. Vander Leek.

Picnics and Reunions

WEST VIRGINIA
President H. P. Maxwell advises the West Virginians that the annual picnic reunion will be held in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday, June 17. He is also calling on all who have been in the 90 odd years which have been his to furnish plots for the most prolific writer of western tales for an extended period of time.

On one occasion which he never can forget, Travis was driving a

State Club Officers Hold Conference in Paso Robles

One of the first official acts of the new board members of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, at their conference last week in Paso Robles Hot Springs hotel, was the ratification of various appointments made by the new state federation president, Miss Josephine G. Seaman of La Jolla.

Of special interest to Orange county clubwomen will be the press and publicity department, since its members seem to be drawn entirely from this community. Just Albert Launer of Fullerton, just completing his term as district president, will have the responsibility of editing the California Federation News, while Mrs. J. M. Cloyes of Santa Ana will be circulation manager for the publication. Mrs. Frank Rosapaw of Placentia, who has served so capably as press chairman for the county the past year, must widen the circle of her activities for she has been named chairman of the department of press and publicity for the state federation.

When Mrs. Launer outlined at the conference some of her plans for an enlarged and newsworthy magazine, she was assured of the interest and co-operation of the assembled clubwomen. In fact the excellent outlines presented by chairmen of the different club activities, seemed to meet with an enthusiasm that promises an interesting and valuable year.

Mrs. Agnes Purnell was appointed executive secretary and manager of the headquarters office which Miss Seaman will maintain in the Chapman building, Fullerton.

New district presidents are Mrs. Albert W. Stokes of San Francisco, San Francisco district; Mrs. Louise Mae Elsensohn, Exeter, San Joaquin valley district; Mrs. Grace Hudson, Los Angeles, Los Angeles district; Mrs. Benjamin F. Warner, Ontario, Southern district; Mrs. Homer DeWitt Rose, Sonoma, Alameda district and Mrs. W. B. Rider, Sacramento, Northern district.

Mrs. Emrys D. White, who has been so successful in Santa Ana chapter for her work among the juniors, has had her ability recognized by being named as chairman of juniors for the Southern district federation.

Saturday Brings Two Farewell Parties For Honoree

Miss Helen Wiesseman's departure for Buffalo, N. Y., on Sunday occasioned two parties Saturday, the first of which was an afternoon affair in the home of Miss Edith Bailey, 311 East Washington avenue, and the second an evening party in the home of the Misses Katherine and Gertrude Chapman, 2032 North Main street.

Miss Bailey had planned a handkerchief shower for her honoree, and many were the dainty bits of linen and lace received by Miss Wiesseman. Bridge games were played, Miss Virginia Anderson and Miss Isabel Bondley scoring first and second high.

Refreshments were served at small tables spread with yellow voile over white centered with bouquets of sunny coreopsis. All appointments were in keeping with this color scheme. In serving and other hostess details of the afternoon, Miss Bailey had the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Paul Bailey, and of Mrs. F. P. Jayne.

Evening Party
Dancing, card games and music interested guests who attended the pretty affair given Saturday evening by the Misses Chapman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Chapman.

Prizes in bridge contests were won by the Misses Jean Leive and Helen Wiesseman, who scored first and second high, and Halstead McCormack and Elmer Aming, who scored first and second high among the young men. Miss Wiesseman also received an attractive guest prize.

Refreshments served at card tables brought to a close the pleasures of the evening.

Those present were the Misses Helen Wiesseman, Edith Bailey, Jean Leive, Janet Lutes, Gertrude Chapman and Katherine Chapman; Messrs Joe Warner, Ray Archer, Halstead McCormack, Elmer Aming, Willard Minor and Mitchell Hookins.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
Dish of Strawberries or 1-2 cantaloupe or grapefruit
1 tsp sugar for berries
1-2 cup dry cereal with
1-3 cup whole milk
1 soft boiled egg (optional)
1 cup coffee with 1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total, 320.

If you are one of those people whose breakfast does not stay by them unless eggs are a part of it, include the eggs. If not, subtract 85 from the calory total for the egg value.

Aids for Ugly Hands
Are you bothered with moist perspiring hands in hot weather? Try this lotion . . . your drugist will give you the formula in correct quantities:
Boric acid, 2 drams
Borax, 3 drams
Salicylic acid, 3 drams
Glycerin and bay rum, each 3 ounces.
Apply 3 times daily, after washing hands.

Have you large ugly knuckles and angular bony hands? This is accentuated by self-consciousness. Watch, and you'll find that you are holding your hands in a clenched position. Relax them, and yourself, practice letting them fall in your lap in a natural graceful position. You can change a bad habit in the same ratio in which you took on the habit, provided you care enough.

Soak brittle nails in hot olive oil for a few minutes each night.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Salmon Turbot
1 pound can of red salmon
2 cups milk
2 eggs
3 Tbsp flour
2 Tbsp butter
Salt, pepper, cayenne to taste
1 small cup toasted crumbs
1 Tbsp each dried onion and green pepper.

Cook butter and flour together until bubbly and yellow. Add milk and make a thin cream sauce, season it quite highly and beat in the egg yolks. Take from the fire and let cool slightly.

Remove bones and dark skin from the salmon, also the oil, and flake it nicely. Season and add the grated onion and green pepper. Combine salmon with cream sauce, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and bake in a shallow buttered dish, the top covered with crumbs and bits of butter. Baking time, 30 minutes, oven moderate.

There are approximately 1800 calories in this recipe, serving six. Many energy units are included in this total, so serve it with green leafy vegetables, a crisp salad, and a dessert low in fat calories. Liberally interpreted, this means green string beans, beet greens, spinach and the like, with berries or cantaloupe for dessert.

Friday: Lima Bean Roast • meatless-meat dish.

PROOF THAT NEW FACE POWDER WON'T MAKE BLOTCHES
Many face powders are made out of cosmetics which darken when the oil in the perspiration strikes them. Perspiration comes out through the openings of your pores and the oil along with it. Every pore which is clogged out will be darkening the powder around the opening of the pores. Thus you have dark spots around the pores and white spots between them, making an ugly, dotty face of blotches, especially on the nose.

The new Mello-gio Face Powder contains none of these inferior cosmetics which are so easily darkened by the oil in your perspiration. Prove it for yourself. Powder one side of your nose with another powder. Powder the other side with the new Mello-gio. In five minutes, let your mirror give you the answer.

We challenge the world to produce a finer and more luxurious face powder than the new Mello-gio. The new Mello-gio formula is the formula used by the most exclusive cosmeticians in New York and Paris.

You don't buy face powder to make your face look dotty and blotchy. Therefore, do not waste your money on powders that you are not sure of. Ask for Mello-gio Face Powder by name. Look for the name Mello-gio Face Powder on the gold box. Refuse the inferior offer of "something just as good" which may blotch your face. Ask for Mello-gio by name and get it. 50c and $1. Tax free. Former Santa Anan Has Successful Recital

Lauding her voice as one of "immaculate beauty," critics who heard the senior recital of Miss Edith McDonald at Whittier college last week were enthusiastic in praise of her accomplishments.

Miss McDonald, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McDonald of Laguna Beach and a niece of Mr. Jarvis F. Wilson, 833 Riverside avenue, Santa Ana, has been attending Whittier college ever since her graduation from Tain high school. She had her school work in this city, where her parents formerly resided.

Concluding her course at Whittier this year, one of her responsibilities as a senior was the presentation of a recital in Plummer lounge at the college. Her voice, clear, sweet contralto, was heard in a series of contrasting numbers, for which Miss Louise Cook played accompaniments. Her phrasing, intonation and diction were commended very highly by all who were privileged to hear the recital, including a number of friends from this community.

Concluding her college work, Miss McDonald plans to teach in her study course having been arranged with a view to music supervision in California schools. PROOF THAT NEW FACE POWDER WON'T MAKE BLOTCHES
Many face powders are made out of cosmetics which darken when the oil in the perspiration strikes them. Perspiration comes out through the openings of your pores and the oil along with it. Every pore which is clogged out will be darkening the powder around the opening of the pores. Thus you have dark spots around the pores and white spots between them, making an ugly, dotty face of blotches, especially on the nose.

The new Mello-gio Face Powder contains none of these inferior cosmetics which are so easily darkened by the oil in your perspiration. Prove it for yourself. Powder one side of your nose with another powder. Powder the other side with the new Mello-gio. In five minutes, let your mirror give you the answer.

We challenge the world to produce a finer and more luxurious face powder than the new Mello-gio. The new Mello-gio formula is the formula used by the most exclusive cosmeticians in New York and Paris.

You don't buy face powder to make your face look dotty and blotchy. Therefore, do not waste your money on powders that you are not sure of. Ask for Mello-gio Face Powder by name. Look for the name Mello-gio Face Powder on the gold box. Refuse the inferior offer of "something just as good" which may blotch your face. Ask for Mello-gio by name and get it. 50c and $1. Tax free. On the host committee were Messrs and Mesdames Leslie M. Pearson, John J. Vernon, Charles Harp, B. J. Brubaker, Fred Eugene Smith and Walter M. Young.

The stage had been arranged to represent a schoolhouse, with greenery and old-fashioned flowers such as hollyhocks, sunflowers and geraniums in the background. Mrs. Pearson presided as teacher and Mr. Pearson as superintendent of schools. Each member of the class contributed something to an informal program. In celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Lippincott and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fink, Mr. Pearson and Mrs. Vernon sang an appropriate number.

Orchestra selections were given by F. W. Dean and Mrs. Stanford, piano; Dr. Dean, mandolin; S. W. Stanford, banjo; Donald Murphy, accordion; John James, harmonica.

The Finks and Mr. Lippincott were given seats of honor at the table where refreshments were served. In addition to two decorated cakes, one topped with cupid and the other with birthday candles, refreshments of school day lunches were dispensed. Glad-louises and stocks decorated the table.

The giant ran with all his might and very soon was out of sight. "My goodness," said Dotty. "He's a coward, after all. The lion was a little one, but gee, it made the giant run. We thought that monstrous man was brave because he was so tall."

"Well, I don't know," said Duncy. "He can be as mean as a mean can be. Perhaps this is the best chance we will have to run away."

"If Mister Giant hides his track, it may be that he will come back. And, even if he doesn't, on this spot I will not stay."

"I'm going to hike. I don't know where and, frankly, neither do I care. I want to find some place where I can get a bit to eat."

"I lost the cookies that I had when we were started. 'Twas too bad. Most anything that we find now will really be a treat."

"Well, we'll go with you," Dotty cried. "And we must all be set to hide, if our old enemy the giant comes o'er yonder hill."

"Through hill and dale, we'll slowly roam and maybe we will find a home. If someone who is kindly lives there, it will be a thrill."

And so they started on their way. Soon Duncy loudly shouted, "Say! Bad luck is always with us. That old lion's coming now. It's running fast, it seems to me. We'd better climb up in a tree. We'll be safe for a moment, and we may escape somehow."

He then helped both the girls climb high. To Duncy, Goldy shouted, "I will grab your hand and pull you up. Then we'll be safe and sound."

In just about a minute more they heard a very funny roar, and looking down, they saw the lion standing on the ground.

(Duncy and the girls get a big surprise in the next story.)

Newport Chamber Seeks Appropriation For Harbor

SPECIAL CITY COUNCIL MEET IS REQUESTED

NEWPORT BEACH, June 15.—Akin the Newport Beach city council to hold a special meeting, before the next regular session of July 3, the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce at a meeting at the Legion clubhouse yesterday advanced plans it has been working on for some time to secure for Newport harbor an appropriation for improvement of the harbor.

City Engineer R. L. Patterson stated that he had drawn plans for jetty extension and dredging which would fit into present conditions, and that the League of Municipalities was asking all cities to make known whatever plans they have for securing some of the money.

Secretary G. C. Macleod of the chamber reported that he had attended a meeting of the county supervisors and given them data on the harbor, that Congressman Sam Collins had been working on the matter at Washington, and that the State Chamber of Commerce had met to discuss a unified program last Friday and would meet again this Friday in Los Angeles.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome had attended last week's meeting and he and George Jeffrey of this district had promised support for the harbor out of the funds, as a worthy project, Macleod reported.

The chamber in asking the city council to call a special meeting stated that it would work in cooperation with the council, the supervisors, the state chamber and others in the matter.

The data given to the supervisors Tuesday stated that no community of like size in the United States had gone into an essentially federal project, such as a harbor, to the same extent as the city of Newport Beach and the county of Orange.

Welfare Group In Session At Mesa

COSTA MESA, June 15.—The Costa Mesa General Welfare committee met in the home of one of the members, Mrs. R. W. McCollan Tuesday night for the closing session of the year.

A summer committee was appointed to care for needs that may arise during the summer months. Old clothing and shoes will be received by Mrs. George Teaney during the summer to be prepared for fall and winter needs. Roy Davis, Mrs. Fred Long and Mrs. E. A. Spaulding were appointed as the summer committee.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McCollan, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long, the committee president, Mrs. Grow S. Brown, and Mrs. Joe Payne.

The date for the next regular meeting was set for September 11.

SECTION TO MEET

GARDEN GROVE, June 14.—The Booklovers' section of the Woman's Civic club will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Howard Barnes of North Euclid avenue. Mrs. Barnes will be assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Charles Lake.

Mesa Couple In Court June 19

COSTA MESA, June 15.—J. W. Anderson and Floesie Anderson, his wife, residing on Eighteenth street, were arrested Tuesday on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Ruth Swope accusing them of disturbing the peace. The Andersons were taken before Judge Donald J. Dodge, who released them on their own recognizance after setting their trial for June 19 at 10 a. m. The defendants asked for a jury trial.

Last April Anderson swore out a complaint against David R. Swope and Ruth Swope, husband and wife, accusing them of disturbing the peace. In turn, Mr. and Mrs. Swope had the Andersons arrested for exhibiting a weapon. Hearings were held in both of these cases in Judge Dodge's court April 30 and the cases were dismissed.

The Swope and Andersons are neighbors.

FEDERAL LOANS OUTLINED FOR FARM CENTER

PLACENTIA, June 15.—Orange county residents may soon be able to receive Federal land loans as a result of the work of the rural credit committee, according to the chairman, C. A. Palmer, who spoke Tuesday night at the meeting of the Placentia Farm center. Another speaker on the program was R. W. Hunt, of Whittier, who spoke on the development of oil sprays.

Rules for loans from the Federal Land banks are these, according to Palmer. Money is not loaned on land where the water lift is above 70 feet; on land where there are tracts under 10 acres; on land which may be subject to salt water infiltration; and to growers who purchase water from another individual.

Much is being done to convince the officials that some of these rules are unreasonable, particularly those pertaining to the high water lift and to salt water wells, which are subject to infiltration of sea water, according to the speaker.

Other Federal loans are the land commissioner loan and the Federal Home loan, said Palmer. The land commissioner loan is similar in setting up to the Federal Land Bank loan, but the maximum amount is $5000, to run 10 years at five per cent interest, and a first on second mortgage is taken on real or personal property or crops, up to 75 per cent of the appraised value. The Federal Land bank loans up to $50,000 for 40 years at four per cent interest, at 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land and 20 per cent of the valuation of the improvements.

The Home Loan bill, signed by President Roosevelt yesterday, provides for loans on city property to the amount of $20,000 at 4 1/2 per cent interest, for a period of five years, said the speaker.

R. W. Hunt, who is associated with a commercial spray firm, gave the history of oil sprays and demonstrated the mixing of the various types. He also showed the effect of high and low temperatures of the past three years on scale.

D. Halliday reported on the walnut section and C. G. Teed reported for the citrus men.

7 AMENDMENTS DISCUSSED AT C. OF C. MEET

PLACENTIA, June 15.—Discussion of amendments before people of the state June 27 took place at the regular weekly meeting of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon.

Fred Valle, statistician and accountant, pronounced No. 1 as a forward step to restore normalcy in affairs, and said it is a flexible measure that will provide for fitting the needs to the situation. In the course of his talk he said California was formerly considered a progressive state, but has now entered the rank of the reactionaries, and especially in tax structure.

Those taking the opposition were A. W. McBride of La Habra, who declared the measure will not save money, but will give away for legislators spending more, and H. H. Hale, who declared that the politicians of the north have again united against the south of the state. Hale suggested the bill "passes the buck to the people."

In rebuttal, Valle declared that the bill does not provide a perfect set-up, but is a start to a change that is necessary.

Ted Craig, assemblyman, said that tax reduction in the legislative body has been difficult, and that the reduction of departments and phases of budget cuts have been almost impossible. He declared the controlled politicians of the metropolitan districts make it difficult to get any economy measures through.

L. T. Aldridge discussed No. 3 on the ballot, providing for the legalization of betting on racing, and said he personally was for it. Louis Jacobson discussed No. 4 on the ballot, exempting private educational institutions from taxation, and declared he hasn't studied it, but if the arguments for it are correct, it should be passed, to save throwing 400,000 more children into an over-crowded school system of the state.

Mrs. Nellie Cline approved No. 5 on the ballot, that provides for re-assessment of property damaged by earthquake. She said the assessments were completed on March 6, previous to the quake March 10, and are obviously unfair, considering the damage done during the quake.

John Tuffree said he is against the issuing of state bonds for re-financing irrigation and reclamation districts in California, No. 6 on the ballot, and Assemblyman Craig asked for passing of No. 7, that provides for making the laws governing finance reduction active 90 days after adjournment for vacation rather than after final adjournment.

The balance of the constitutional amendments and of the laws on the ballot will be discussed next week, and in addition Dr. George Warner of the Santa Ana Methodist church will talk on the prohibition issue.

PLACENTIA GUESTS. PLACENTIA, June 15.—Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira MacNames were his cousin and family, G. F. Wilde and wife and daughters, Eloise and Marlene, of Pondera, Ia., who have been spending some time in Southern California. They plan to continue to Seattle, Wash., whence they will embark for Alaska as part of their summer trip. On their return they will motor home via a northern route.

D. Halliday reported on the walnut section and C. G. Teed reported for the citrus men.

71 GRADUATES NEWPORT HARBOR HIGH SCHOOL GIVEN DIPLOMAS; FIVE STUDENTS ADDRESS CROWD

NEWPORT BEACH, June 15.—An interesting program was presented at the commencement exercises of the Newport Harbor Union High school last night, when 71 students received the diplomas. The program was a departure from the usual custom of having a special speaker for the occasion, members of the outgoing class giving the addresses. Over 1000 people were in attendance at the program. The class was the second to graduate from the school.

The first student speaker on the program was Miss Frances Torrence, who spoke on the theme, "The Challenge to Education in a Changing Civilization." Miss Torrence pointed out that any society or nation is only as great as a representative cross section of its citizenship, and that education is the greatest of all uplifting powers, therefore the challenge to education in the present changing and disturbed civilization is very real.

Peter Skipper spoke on "Education and Economic Rehabilitation." Skipper expressed the belief that much of the present economic distress is due to ignorance among the masses, and following out that line of reasoning drew the conclusion that education will do much to bring about a sane and lasting rehabilitation not only in America, but in the whole world. Miss Harriett Abrams spoke on "Education and World Cooperation," and Jerome Briggs spoke on the topic, "Education and a New Social Order." Miss Alma Graves, the member of the class receiving the highest scholarship honors, spoke on "Harbor High Accepts the Challenge."

Malcolm Reid gave two vocal selections, "Clouds," by Charles, and "A Son of the Desert Am I," by Phillips, accompanied by Miss Marie Hebsch, school instructor of music. The Girls' Glee club gave "Last Night," by Clokey, and "Nursery Rhymes," by Curran. The Boys' Glee club rendered "Peaceful Night," by German and "To Arms," by Maund.

The procession, "March of the Priests," by Mendelssohn, was played by the school orchestra. The Rev. Russell Stroup, pastor of the Newport Beach Community church, gave the invocation and the Rev. W. I. Lowe, pastor of the Costa Mesa Community church, pronounced the benediction.

The school principal, Sidney H. Davidson, was cheered by the crowd when he appeared to present the class to the president of the board of trustees, D. J. Dodge, who presented the diplomas to the class.

In addition to Miss Graves, others receiving scholarship honors were Virginia McClellan, Thomas Rollins and Eugenia Bowman.

Week-end MURDER

The story opens with a prologue in which a murder is committed by a homicidal maniac. Later he boards a train for Long Island, thinking of the pleasure and the money he is to have. The name of the murderer is not disclosed.

The scene shifts to the Long Island and home of ELOISE and TOM AVERILL, married three years and living in love. The Averills have five children, the youngest, COUSIN AMOS PEABODY, elderly, distant relative of Linda's, CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome, Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer with whom Averill hopes to do business; Mrs. STATLANDER, middle-aged woman; MARVIN PRATT, former lover of Linda's; and LINDA SHAUGHNESSY, Irish writer on a lecture tour.

Cousin Amos immediately makes trouble for Linda with Shaughnessy because the Irishman holds liberal political views; plays golf with Statlander and infuriates him by criticizing his game; discusses prohibition with De Vos and declares De Vos a hypocrite. Linda is finally agreed that Cousin Amos is to leave early the next morning.

The others go to the Country club to do business. Linda and Captain Pratt goes to Amos' room and they are heard quarreling. The dance for dancing perhaps he would be a little more responsive. As the little car started after the larger one Statlander began to shoot at her an astonishing series of questions. "Your little boy did not come up today to see you, did he, Mrs. Averill?"

"No. The old dog was a great pet of his and we didn't want to tell him about her. It would have been hard, with guests in the house, and he not even staying home so we could lead up gently. Mr. Averill telephoned his mother and asked her to keep Bingo there all day."

GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

White Haven.

"Yes."

"That little balcony connects also with a room on the other side. I've observed it from the front lawn."

"One of the guest rooms—yes."

"Where Mr. Peabody is?"

"Yes."

"I presume the servants' quarters are upstairs?"

"Yes—over the center of the house."

"You also have rooms in the garage?"

"The interrogation was abruptly ended by their arrival at the White Haven gate. Linda swept the little car skillfully around the curve in the road and between the posts and drove up so closely behind the other car that she had to brake hard to stop in time."

Again Tom walked to the sarge with Shaughnessy. Linda, waiting, was relieved to see that he entered and went upstairs. He could hardly put the man to bed but at least he could see that he didn't set the place on fire or do other damage trying to find the lights. The rest of the party went up and dispersed silently, Pratt and De Vos tiptoeing cautiously by Cousin Amos' closed door.

"I told him he could leave it open for the draft through but the idea seemed to shock him." Linda whispered as they reached the little hall. Just then she heard from within a raucous grating sound which confirmed her belief that Cousin Amos had blantly ignored her earlier request. "Perhaps it's just as well—that door on the balcony makes the hardest noise, and having this one shut muffles it, at least. You have everything you want? Well—good-night. You can all sleep late tomorrow morning!"

"Oh, heavens, no! I'm sorry about the toys—Rosie shall move them in the morning. No, Bingo and Nanna sleep across the hall from you."

"That is the room I've heard you speak of as the nursery? It faces the water?"

"Yes. We're not using it this week—and the ceiling and walls were ruined by water from an overflowing tub upstairs. That's why we had to put Mr. Shaughnessy in the garage."

"Oh, then that is the room which opens on the small white porch over the central front of the house?"

Linda wondered at such persistence.

When Tom finally succeeded in escaping Shaughnessy's garrulous friendliness and returned, tired and out of sorts, he found Linda sitting by the window toward the Sound. On the bed lay her corn-yellow velvet wrap, on the floor her wisp of a frock, and her high-heeled pumps had been kicked off beside it. She seemed to have lacked energy to proceed further with the business of undressing and when he came in simply rolled her eyes at him eloquently and made no further move. He sank into a chair by another window and for a moment weary silence reigned.

"Did you ever know such a night?" Linda gathered her energies to speak first. "Never—never in all my born days. I am not tired, I am disgusted. As a house party, this is the biggest washout I've ever had!"

"You're tired, Binks," her husband observed dispassionately. "I think they all had a good time."

"They may have for all we know anything about it—I hardly laid eyes on one of them all evening."

"Well, didn't you plan to turn them over to the female contingent?"

"Yes, of course—and I wanted them to enjoy themselves. And you're still the best dancer in the world, my Thomas."

"Thanks—same to you. Gosh, this heat is appalling! Not a bit cooler at night."

"Morning—getting lighter every minute. That means it'll start in hot and get worse instead of better. Why does Fourth of July always mean such ghastly weather? And on top of it, every darned one of those men had been drinking."

"Even your beloved Marvin?"

"Now, don't you start anything! Linda suddenly snapped from complete inertia to militant uprightness. "He was too queer all evening—implying he wasn't welcome—nasty way of talking without coming right out with what was on his mind."

"Well, look, Binks—what was the matter with him before me started? When he came downstairs he looked black enough to kill. I sort of hated to drive off with the others and leave you. Then everything seemed all right when we got there, so I forgot about it till now. Anybody step on his toes before we left?"

"Hmp! Who specializes in toe-stepping around here?"

"Don't glare at me—he's not my cousin!"

"Oh, Tom, that's cruel! I can't help it. Why is Cousin Amos such a pest? I fished around a bit but I couldn't find out time I led back to it. Marvin got sulky. He was that way on and off all evening. I'd rather have all sorts of an explosion—made me feel queer—see, I know his temper of old. He holds in too much, and when it does let go—well, I wouldn't want to be in the way!"

THE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

The Economic Conference being held in London is a gathering of representatives from 66 nations of the world. Nothing like it has ever been held before. We have had Disarmament Conferences, Peace Conferences, conferences to discuss matters of political and social concern; but this conference differs from all others in that it concerns itself with the question of the distribution of the world's wealth.

Production, under our present economic system, has outrun the possible demands of the people of the world for goods. With more than enough to meet the needs of every living human being, some starve, some live in direst poverty, and some others swelter in frantic luxury. This has applied to individuals in a given nation. It now applies to particular nations in the great family of nations of the world.

To make it possible for all to share in a world in which there is ample to meet the needs of all is the task of this international economic conference now meeting in London. Naturally, the question must be looked at from a great many different angles. The question of an international standard of monetary exchange has to be faced, whether it shall be silver or gold or both, or whether some other standard shall be introduced. Also the question of tariffs between nations, so that it may be possible for the tide of trade to flow naturally between the different countries of the world without working hardship to any particular nation. Other questions correlative with these must be faced.

In a democratic world, the matter of corporate control is a difficult problem. Democracy recognizes the right of the individual to determine his course in such a way as to assure him the greatest amount of freedom. But now, in a world in which tremendous forces are at work destroying the even balance of life, some corporate control has become necessary if democracy in any form is to survive. The extent of this corporate control and the limits of it have to be defined. That is the great task of this conference.

All this will serve to show the importance of this conference and the interest which it should awaken in the world among people of intelligence and good will. No one can predict what will come of it all. The old standards and the old provincialisms are not easily overcome. National selfishness is still to be reckoned with. The fear lest one nation may be given an advantage does exist. The hope of a world much confused and distracted and unbalanced is that some way out may be found from the present chaos of conditions which has made man a victim of his own productive genius and his own power.

It is a hard task to which these representatives of the 66 nations have set themselves. The discussions will be followed with interest and the outcome will be anticipated with concern.

A NEW PEACE SOCIETY

President Wilkins of Oberlin College, at a commencement address at Haverford College, reported in the New York Times, urged a new peace society to disseminate international information which should be non-propagandist in character.

We now have more than a score of peace societies in this country, some of them with a long and honorable history and some of more recent origin. It seems as if the work of informing the people is being well done already by the Foreign Policy Association, the Council for the Prevention of War, the World's Peace Foundation, the Church Peace Union, the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, and others.

The delightful Portia in the Merchant of Venice is made to say, "If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces." Surely we have all the information we need now. What is more needed is more action. The desk of every man who has influence to reach the public is cluttered with a mass of information on international peace. To add another society to give more information is grossly superfluous. What should be done is to co-ordinate all the peace agencies of this country into some unity of action instead of adding another one.

We are reminded of a speech made by a governor of one of our great states to a church body. He deprecated the number of churches which were competing with one another on the same field. He spoke of it at one time to his mother, a devout old lady. "Why, Jimmy," she said, "you couldn't have too many churches in this country if there were one on every corner of every cross road of all the states."

As sentiment that was fine. But practically it was absurd. What the world needs is not more propaganda for peace by another society, but less competition among peace agencies now existing. This is an age of overlapping agencies. We seem to have a society to foster every virtue and another one to circumvent every vice. Co-ordination of all these is what is most needed.

SCIENCE GOES ON DISCOVERING THINGS

At a recent gathering of medical scientists held in Milwaukee many new discoveries have been reported. One which interests us is the new discovery of the effect upon the human system of various foods and practices. By means of a hypograph—which means a machine which registers how a human being acts while he is asleep—it is possible to learn what kind of food, or how much of food, makes a person dream or to toss in bed. Another discovery is that hot baths taken before retiring for the night are not conducive to sound sleep, as has been so generally believed.

Thus are our eating habits exposed and our common beliefs in the value of certain practices and exercises shattered. It was not so very long ago that everybody was doing his "daily dozen" before breakfast. Some of us felt that it was pretty strenuous, but we kept on doing them because we thought we would become habituated to the strenuousness of it. Then, just when everybody was doing it, a conclave of doctors announced that it was not safe for some people to do these exercises. It strained the heart. Or it took too much vitality out of us. Then people began to quit. And now the phonograph records containing these exercises are gathering dust somewhere.

All of which proves that what is one man's meat may become another man's poison. And, to garble the advice of a certain advertiser of toothpaste, it is well when needing advice on such matters to see your expert doctor before tinkering with your diet or taking your exercise. Once it was good advice to keep a patient suffering from pneumonia warm. Now the advice is to keep him cool. Once a feverish patient was refused water. Now he is given all he can drink. Once they bled a man to make him well. Now they pump some one else's blood into his arterial system. It is the wise man who keeps up with his well-informed physician these days.

At last we know who the Forgotten Man is—Charlie Curtis!

INVESTIGATING IN PENNSYLVANIA

Mrs. Gifford Pinehot served to turn attention to horrible sweat shop conditions existing in some Pennsylvania factories. Lest people become indifferent to this evil, attention should be directed to the hearing which is now being conducted by a committee of the Pennsylvania state legislature. According to the testimony of Mrs. Vanda L. Noll of the State Department of Labor and Industry whole families who are employed in industrial home work frequently receive as little as $2.97 a week and they seldom earn as much as $5. Another witness testified that children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen who are employed are receiving as little as 63 cents a week. The girls in these plants work seven and a half hours a day for five days and four hours on Saturday. In another plant it was brought out at the hearing that the girls earn from $1.28 to $4.48 a week. The wages in another factory average between $3.50 and $5.15 a week.

We can be thankful that there are those who are vigilant and some of them with the power to investigate and expose such conditions in the interests of those who alone would be at the mercy of exploiters.

Does Travel Teach?
Christian Science Monitor

Does travel broaden the mind? Mr. J. B. Priestley has gone entirely contrary to the opinion of the centuries and of the shipping lines by replying "no" to this question. In his youth his native city used to send men on business trips to all parts of the world; but Mr. Priestley declares that he never noticed that their outlooks were any wider when they came back than when they set out.

In Mr. Priestley's view, the reputed of traveling is being rapidly undermined by the wonderful advertisements that are concocted to popularize it. The man at the Marble Arch, at the entrance to Hyde Park, whose imagination is kindled by an advertisement assuring him that the Golden Horn is the last word in romance, is apt to be disillusioned when, on arriving in the neighborhood of the Golden Horn, he discovers a poster telling him that the real center of glamour is the Marble Arch.

Shipping firms and tourist agencies need not, however, be unduly alarmed at Mr. Priestley's remarks. His object in making them, one suspects, was not to turn travelers into stay-at-homes, but to suggest to them how to get the greatest possible value out of their travels. He was protesting, not against intelligent travel, but against intelligent travel's most subtle enemy, the supposition that there is some magical education process in merely being passively carried about in luxurious liners or comfortable trains from city to city or from continent to continent.

The value of experience depends not only on the experience itself but on the attitude of the person to whom it happens. Otherwise the scenes of London or New York would be wiser than those of the wisest men. It has been well said that he who would bring back the wealth of the Indies must carry the wealth of the Indies with him. Especially is this true of foreign travel. Whoever would have his thought broadened by contact with unfamiliar places must take within him a thought that is ready to be broadened. He must not expect strange cities to do the trick entirely on their own. He must co-operate with them alertly and intelligently. Foreign travel is not a solo, but a duet.

Deficit In Icebergs
San Francisco Chronicle

Icebergs or rather lack of them is causing the Coast Guard a lot of worry. For the first time in the history of the ice patrol, the first occasion being 1931, there are no frozen islands drifting in the North Atlantic, and the Coast Guard is sending expeditions to the Arctic glacier regions to find out why.

One explanation offered is that the winter was so cold that the bergs did not break off from the glaciers as usual, to float down and menace navigation with such disasters as that which sent the Titanic to the bottom.

Another theory is that the Gulf Stream has moved closer to the Atlantic Coast and melts the bergs before they get so far south. If this be correct, it must be that the stream is getting very giddy and unreliable, for the same result was experienced two years ago, while last year was normal for bergs. The absence of the bergs has left the patrol maintained by the United States without its usual duties of policing the North Atlantic to destroy bergs or send out warnings to shipping. So the patrol is being sent with elaborate preparations for measuring changes in direction and speed of ocean currents to solve the mystery of the missing bergs and study of the conditions which since time immemorial have been creating hazards in the North

Cut-Outs For Tired Taxpayers

More Truth Than Poetry

KNOWLEDGE IS WISDOM

I know that snakes are often kind
And beneficial, too.
But very few of them I find.
The slightest harm can do.
They coil, with unremitting zest
Through long and weary hours
To decimate the insect pest
That decimates the flowers.
But meek as most of them may be
They look like murderers to me.

I know that every feline born,
However mild of face,
Looks down with grim sardonic scorn
On all the human race.
I know its heart is dour and grim:
The keen-clawed briar patch,
If but I thwart its slightest whim,
Will growl and spit and scratch.
But every time I hear it purr
I stoop and stroke its glossy fur.

I know the path of right is hard,
But leads on to success;
But those who take it I regard
As goofy, more or less.
I know the easy downward way
Will help no man advance.
But I pursue it every day
If I but get a chance.
Remember, 'ere your life goes sour,
That knowledge isn't always power.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Money is desirable because it enables one to escape such things as toll, dirt, vulgarity and income taxes.
The only sure thing about these Roosevelt laws is that some monkey-wrench thrower will take them to the Supreme Court.
So you needn't keep a contract to pay in gold because you can't get the gold? If that is good reasoning, a lot of us needn't pay in currency either.

Some of the Senators who are standing by Mr. Roosevelt remind us of the ones who stood by Caesar that day.
Then there's another way to measure a man. We never denounce those of our own class.

"WHAT IS IT A SIGN OF WHEN A MAN GROWS A MUSTACHE?" ASKS A SUBSCRIBER. WELL, FOR ONE THING, IT IS A SIGN OF NEW BUSINESS FOR SOME PHOTOGRAPHER.

Hurray! The "gold clause" isn't binding because there isn't enough gold to pay all obligations at once. And there isn't enough money to pay all at once.

Don't worry about what Ambassador Davis says. President Wilson made Europe a lot of promises, too.
Yale seniors voted accounting the hardest study. At any rate it is hardest on one's faith in mankind.

AMERICANISM: Growing that the government can't be trusted to conduct a power business; giving three cheers when it offers to resurrect other businesses.

As we understand it, Congress is mad because rich men got through the loopholes Congress provided for that purpose.
Still, we're glad Mr. Morgan didn't let us on the inside to buy $20 stock that dropped to $4.

It takes a lot of gall for an age to feel superior because it has a lot of fool-proof machinery.

A EUROPEAN SAYS AMERICA HAS PRODUCED NO SOUL-STIRRING MUSIC. BOY, DID YOU EVER HEAR THE SWEET SMACK OF A BAT AGAINST A FAT ONE?

We see that Mr. Roosevelt is about to lose the support of loyal followers who have been waiting for a chance to knife him. Still, about the only thing people sacrifice for money is something they don't need if they have money enough.

Another place where important people like to live is just inside the law.

In other words, if Europe won't cooperate for prosperity, America will try the desperate expedient of minding her own business.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

GUARDING THE GREENBACKS

Under the permissive legislation looking to inflation, President Roosevelt may issue $3,000,000,000 of Treasury currency either as a substitute for or as a supplement to the open market operations I discussed yesterday.

This authority frightens some monetary conservatives, and is, to them, the threat of an uncontrolled inflationary venture.

But, as in the case of the open market operations, there are several safeguards thrown around this power. These are:

First, the President cannot turn the printing presses loose without lot or hindrance because there is the definite quantitative limit of $3,000,000,000 on this sort of currency issue.

Second, the President cannot use this currency, if issued, for any purpose other than to meet, repay or buy interest-bearing obligations of the United States government.

Third, the President must retire or cancel the government obligations bought with this currency.

Fourth, the President is not obliged to use any of this possible $3,000,000 unless the facts justify the use.

Fifth, the notes have to be retired at a 4 per cent annual rate. Sixth, this $3,000,000,000 provision makes possible a limited use of this money in the place of government bonds for a temporary period, in the event revenues prove inadequate to take care of government obligations that mature and to cover expenditures for make-work programs and for relief, and is thus in itself a safeguard around government expenditures.

Seventh, in addition to these six safeguards inherent in the provision for the possible issue of this Treasury currency, there is an added safeguard in the power the President has been given to determine the weight of the dollar, for, by shifting the weight of the dollar, the President can help to hamper reckless inflation and check prices that are rising too high as well as to hamper reckless deflation and spur prices that are falling too low.

The more one studies the inflation legislation the more one sees that, granted a wise handling of emergency powers, there is little danger of a ruinously uncontrolled inflation.

"Don't do that Nelly. It isn't nice." All day long Nelly is told that such and such is not nice. Nice girls do not do so, do not talk so, do not think so. Being nice becomes a strong point in Nelly's day, and by and by, in her life. And if Nelly is Jimmy, the result is the same. It is possible to be too nice.

Dirt is comparative. There has to be a standard of cleanliness before then can be one for dirt. When Nelly puts her hands into the bowl of cereal she does NOT get her hands dirty. There is nothing dirty about cereal. It is the cleanest thing I know. When is a beautiful plant, corn is a joy to behold as well as to eat, so are oats. Cooking them does not soil them. Quite the opposite. Then why say to the child, "That is not nice. You dirty your hands. Keep your hands and your food clean. Dirty girl."

Not nice seems to imply positive dirt. The label is usually accompanied by that word and the child gets the wrong notion. Mud pies are dirty, sticky hands covered with eggs, mush or pancake dough are dirty. Mother is horrified and the child is frightened.

We want the child to learn to behave properly, to keep his hands where they belong but we do not want him to recoil from sticky, muddy, plastered hands in dread and fear. "Not nice," is not necessarily dirty. It is unwise to teach a child this emphasis. We make too many wholesome, hearty, robust things taboo because we label them, "Not nice." We make children finicky and fussy and mincing. I like to see a child take hold of whatever comes along, get his hands messed if he has to wash them because he feels better afterward, and let it go at that. I hate to see his mind set toward a fear of touching messy things. That fear may color many fields of human activity for him and cost him a lot of healthy enjoyment.

The garden soil is not dirt. It is soil. It becomes dirt when it stays overlong in the wrong place. Hands that are working in the soil are not dirty in any true sense of the word when they are so occupied. They are dirty when they are not so occupied and left unwashed. The nicety is concerned with this timely cleansing. There is a time for the niceties and upon this delicate point hinges a world of meaning.

I heard a boy shout "Shut up," to a young woman who was teasing him by saying things about his father. His mother reproved him sharply for not being nice to the young woman. To my mind he had been nice. He had used the only vocabulary he possessed to escape from an intolerable situation. I saw a young girl plunge her hand into a dirty mess to salvage a baby's life. If she had been brought up under the fear of the niceties she would never have been able to render that service.

There is a place for the niceties. What I am trying to point out is that life is not nice. It is nice sometimes but most of the time it is robust, healthy and honest in its dealings with the fundamentals of living, birth, death, and the in-between living. It is for these we rear children, and to that end we teach them to be truly discriminating about dirt.
